For Prayer and Especial Gratitude to God, in View of the Great Victory.

EXECUTIVE MANSION, WASHINGTON, May 9, 1864.

To the Friends of Union and Liberty:

Enough is known of army operations within the last five days to claim our especial gratitude to God. While what remains undone demands our most earnest prayers to and reliance upon Him, (without whom all human effort is vain,) I recommend that all patriots at their homes, in their places of public worship, and wherever they may be, unite in common thanksgiving and prayer to Almighty God. ABRAHAM LINCOLN.

DISPATCHES FROM THE WAR-OFFICE.

FIRST DISPATCH.

The General Result a Success—The Fighting Desperate—The Cool, Determined Courage of the Army—The Death of Gen. Wadsworth—Gen. Sherman Heard From.

WASHINGTON, Monday, May 9—10:45 A. M.

Maj.-Gen. Dix:

We have intelligence this morning by scouts direct from the army, as late as Saturday evening, but no official reports.

The general results may be stated as a success to our arms.

The fighting on Friday was the most desperate known in modern times.

I deeply regret that the country will have to mourn the death of this accomplished soldier, Brig.-Gen. WADSWORTH, who was struck in the forehead by a ball, at the head of his command, while leading them against one of the enemy's strongest positions. His remains are in our hands, in charge of Col. SHAWN.

Gen. WARD was wounded.

Gen. JONES, of the rebel army, was killed.

The condition of our army is represented to be most admirable. The cool, determined courage, in every instance, proved too much for the desperate fury of the rebels, who have been driven at all points. There has been no straggling.

At the last accounts HANCOCK was pushing forward rapidly by the left to Spottsylvania Court-house, and yesterday heavy cannonading was heard at Aquia Creek from that direction, until 3 o'clock.

We have lost some prisoners.

One regiment, the Seventh Pennsylvania Reserves, charged through an abattis of the enemy, but were unable to get back, and most of them were captured. We have also taken a large number of prisoners, supposed to be more than we lost.

The wounded had not yet arrived at the point whence the trains were to receive them. The Medical Director reports that a large proportion are slight wounds.

Artillery was not used on either side the first two days.

There is nothing later from Gen. Burnsides than the date of my last dispatch.

Gen. BURNSIDE was heard from last night. He had been all day reconnoitering the enemy's position and would attack to-day. EDWIN M. STANTON.

SECOND DISPATCH.

Lee's Report of the Battle—Gen. Jenkins Killed—Longstreet, Pegram and Stafford Wounded.

[OFFICIAL.]

WASHINGTON, Monday, May 9.

To Maj.-Gen. Dix:

This Department has just received from Gen. Burnsides the official report of Gen. Lee of the operations of Friday. He says their loss in killed is not large, but they have many wounded. He grieves to announce that Gen. LONGSTREET was severely wounded, Gen. JENKINS killed, and Gen. PEGRAM badly wounded on Thursday, and that it is supposed that Gen. STAFFORD will recover. He thanks a merciful God that every advance on their (Gen. GRANT's) part has been repulsed. He states that our forces attacked them, and caused some confusion. Gen. WADSWORTH's body fell into their hands, but our reports this morning state that it is now in our possession under charge of Col. SHAWN, as stated in my first dispatch this morning.

The belief here is that Lieut.-Gen. GRANT is achieving a complete victory. EDWIN M. STANTON.

THIRD DISPATCH.

Gen. Grant "On to Richmond"—Capture of Two Thousand Prisoners.

WASHINGTON, May 9—4 o'clock P. M.

Maj.-Gen. Dix:

Dispatches have just reached here direct from Gen. GRANT. They are not fully deciphered yet, but he is "On to Richmond."

We have taken two thousand prisoners.

EDWIN M. STANTON, Secretary of War.

FOURTH DISPATCH.

Lee Retreats Friday Night—Grant's Pursuit on Saturday—Hancock Passes Through Spottsylvania Court-House on Sunday Morning—Headquarters Twenty Miles from the Battle-field on Sunday—Occupation of Fredericksburgh—Depot for the Wounded Established There.

WASHINGTON, Monday, May 9—4 P. M.

A bearer of dispatches from Gen. MEADE's headquarters has just reached here. He states that Lee's army commenced falling back on the night of Friday. Our army commenced the pursuit on Saturday. The rebels were in full retreat for Richmond by the direct road. HANCOCK passed through Spottsylvania Court-house at daylight yesterday. Our headquarters at noon yesterday were twenty miles south of the battle field. We occupy Fredericksburgh. The Twenty-second New-York Cavalry occupied that place at 8 o'clock last night. The depot for our wounded is established at Fredericksburgh.

EDWIN M. STANTON, Secretary of War.

SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE N. Y. TIMES

The Defeat of the Enemy Complete—The Death of Gen. Wadsworth—Gen. Webb not Killed—The Wounded not yet Received at Rappahannock Station.

WASHINGTON, Monday, May 9.

Intelligence received this morning is of the most cheering character, modified only by individual cases of national bereavement. The rout of the enemy's forces is complete. They are flying in a demoralized condition toward the intrenchments at Richmond, leaving their killed and wounded in our hands. Victory is complete.

Our loss is very heavy. Among the brave men who are lost is Gen. WADSWORTH, of New-York. He was killed while charging at the head of his division by a ball through the brain. The rebel Gen. SAM. JONES was killed, and his body is in our hands.

Gen. WARD is not killed, as reported.

The bridges on the railroad as far as Rappahannock Station have been guarded during all this movement by small detachments, and there has been uninterrupted telegraphic communication between Rappahannock and Alexandria until 9 o'clock last night.

The telegraph is in operation this A. M. Not a single wounded man had reached Rappahannock Station at last accounts. Six trains of empty cars went to the front yesterday morning, and more will follow as soon as they begin to load.

The Operations of Saturday—Heavy Skirmishing—Lee's Retreat—The Army in Vigorous Pursuit—Our Loss 1,500 Killed, 10,000 Wounded.

WASHINGTON, Monday—6 P. M.

Reliable information from the front up to 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon states that on Saturday morning Gen. GRANT opened the fight by a general advance of his pickets and skirmishers. During the whole day there was very heavy skirmishing, amounting sometimes to a severe musketry battle; and it was during one of these that the gallant WADSWORTH was killed at the head of his division. Lee retreated in the direction of Spottsylvania Court-House, and it was reported from the front on Sunday morning that Gen. HANCOCK was in occupation of that place. Gen. GRANT's whole army was in vigorous pursuit. Our loss is reported at about 1,500 killed and 10,000 wounded. The order for sending the wounded to Washington has been rescinded, and other arrangements will be made.

WASHINGTON REPORTS.

Dispatches from Grant and Meade—The Pursuit of the Enemy—The Capture of Two Thousand Prisoners.

WASHINGTON, Monday, May 9.

Dispatches from Gen. MEADE and Lieut.-Gen. GRANT have just been received by the War Department.

Our army was in full pursuit of the enemy toward Richmond.

We have two thousand prisoners.

Our forces occupied Fredericksburgh at 8 o'clock last night.

The hospital for our wounded was established there.

The supplies, nurses, physicians and attendants have been ready for two days, and have gone forward.

The wounded are now estimated at about twelve thousand.

Renewed Battle on Sunday—Lee's Report of the Battle of Thursday.

WASHINGTON, Monday, May 9.

The Republican Extra says: "There is reason to believe, from dispatches already received since our first extra to-day, that Lee was forced to fight at Spottsylvania on Sunday, and was again repulsed and compelled to retreat.

Another statement is that Gen. GRANT had flanked him and got between the rebel army and Richmond.

Lee's report of the battle of Thursday last, published in the Richmond papers, has been telegraphed to this city by Gen. BURNSIDE. Lee says that Gen. GRANT attacked him, which contradicts the report received here that Lee made the attack upon our army. Lee employs this language, "Thank God we have repulsed the attacks of the enemy." He states that LONGSTREET is badly wounded.

Lee says nothing in his report about the fight on Friday.

Dispatches state Gen. BURNSIDE is still holding the line of railroad between Petersburgh and Richmond, preventing BEAUREGARD from reinforcing Lee.

Richmond and Petersburgh Not Evacuated—Gen. Hancock in Vigorous Pursuit of Lee—The Casualties.

WASHINGTON, Monday, May 9.

The Star publishes an extra this evening, saying:

There is no foundation for the report that the rebels are evacuating Richmond, nor that Petersburgh is evacuated.

The following is a list of the casualties, so far as received at the present time:

Brig.-Gen. ALEXANDER HAYS, of Pennsylvania, killed.

Brig.-Gen. JAMES S. WADSWORTH, of New-York, killed.

Brig.-Gen. WARD, of New-York, wounded.

Col. WEAVER, of the Forty-third New-York, wounded.

Col. STONE, of the Second Vermont, wounded.

Col. LAMAN, of the Third Vermont, wounded.

Col. STONE, of the Pennsylvania Bucktails, injured by a fall from his horse.

Col. WEAZ, of the Ninth Maine, killed.

Lieut.-Col. TYLER, wounded.

Lieut.-Col. WEAZ, wounded.

Major DOBLIN, of the Forty-ninth New-York, wounded.

Major DARLINGTON, of the Eighteenth Pennsylvania, wounded.

At the latest dates received by the War Department, Gen. HANCOCK was rapidly pushing by the left to Spottsylvania Court-house. Heavy cannonading was heard from that direction, yesterday, at Aquia Creek.

An official report of Gen. LEE to the rebel authorities at Richmond, transmitted by Gen. BURNSIDE to the War Department, states that the rebel loss in killed is not large, but that many are wounded.

Gen. LEE also states that he regrets to say that Gen. LONGSTREET is dangerously wounded; also, that Gen. PEGRAM and STAFFORD are wounded, and that Gen. JENKINS is killed.

Gen. JONES is also killed and his body is reported to be in our possession.

The Result of Friday's Fighting Very Advantageous—Lee Falling Back—He Leaves his Dead and Wounded in our Hands.

WASHINGTON, Monday, May 9.

The extra Star says:

"Reports from the front, not official, by parties that left there on Saturday, are to the effect that the result of the fighting on Friday was yet more advantageous to the Union cause than that of Thursday, resulting in Lee's falling back, according to some reports, twelve miles, leaving his dead and wounded in our hands.

GRANT, according to the same report, has a field full of prisoners, and had advanced to Spottsylvania Court-house.

A verbal message received at Gen. HALLECK's headquarters, by a messenger from the Army of the Potomac, is to the effect that the battle ended on Friday, the enemy having fallen back about twelve miles, leaving his dead and wounded on the field.

On Saturday, at 3 o'clock, Lee's army was in full retreat through Spottsylvania, and when the messenger left, Gen. HANCOCK was entering the place in pursuit.

We have captured many prisoners, but the number is not known.

Gen. WADSWORTH is reported killed, and Gen. WARD wounded.

Gen. BURNSIDE is reported to be within ten miles of Richmond. This information comes by a boat from Alexandria, passengers from there reporting the arrival of parties from GRANT's army with news to that effect.

Parties in Alexandria County yesterday heard firing, as from heavy siege guns, in the direction of Spottsylvania Court-house, from 11 A. M. until 1 P. M. The distance is over sixty miles, but the day was quiet and the wind from the southwest, making it not improbable that the firing was from the battle going on yesterday between GRANT and LEE.

Owing to the fact of the Rappahannock bridge being out of repair, the order directing that the wounded be brought to Washington has been countermanded for the present.

LATER.

WASHINGTON, Monday, April 9—noon.

A messenger who left the front of the Army of the Potomac at 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon, reports that Gen. HANCOCK was then at Spottsylvania Court-house, pursuing the rebels, who were retreating in good order by two roads.

From the Field of Battle—The Fighting of Friday—The Desperate Character of the Battle-Ground.

OLD WILDERNESS TAVERN, Friday, May 6—6 P. M. via WASHINGTON, Sunday, May 8—Midnight.

Our correspondent with the Army of the Potomac sends us the following:

The most terrific battle yet fought about to-day. Lee's entire army has made repeated and desperate assaults upon our right and left wings, commanded by HANCOCK and SEDGWICK, with temporary success, but has been driven back with great slaughter.

An attack was made about 4 o'clock this afternoon, simultaneously, upon our whole line, which was gallantly repulsed.

Toward dark the enemy concentrated upon our extreme right and fell suddenly upon SEDGWICK, crushing in a portion of his line.

Gen. SEDGWICK succeeded in reforming his line and securing it against further disaster, and the enemy withdrew from his front under cover of the darkness.

Our losses have been heavy.

Our army to-day has certainly achieved a decided success. It has baffled all the offensive efforts of the enemy.

The almost impenetrable woods with which the battle-ground is covered saved the rebels from a crushing defeat, as it enabled them to conceal their movements almost perfectly until the very moment of their execution.

The number of our wounded is estimated at from 6,000 to 8,000.

They have been forwarded to Rappahannock Station, and thence to the Washington hospitals.

I will send a detailed account by the next train.

THE VERY LATEST.

Gen. IRWIN telegraphs from the Old Wilderness Tavern, at 11½ A. M. on Saturday, that "the enemy presumed to be retiring."

Gen. BURNSIDE has sent a dispatch from Bermuda Hundreds, saying that he has made a demonstration against the railroad between Petersburgh and Richmond, and has succeeded, after some pretty severe fighting, in breaking the communication.

Gen. BEAUREGARD is in command of the rebel forces at Petersburgh and Richmond.

This authentic account disposes of the statement that the rebels have burned Petersburgh after evacuating it.

[The foregoing dispatch is a special one to the Boston Advertiser.]

PHILADELPHIA REPORTS.

The Advance on Saturday—Casualties—Longstreet Fatally Wounded.

PHILADELPHIA, Monday, May 9.

The following is bulletined here:

HEADQUARTERS ARMY OF THE POTOMAC, Saturday Evening.

At noon to-day our skirmishers advanced and formed, and found that Lee had retreated. Lieut.-Gen. GRANT pushed out strong picket forces on all the avenues leading westward, and resumed his original plan of campaign.

Gen. HANCOCK's corps is now at Spottsylvania Court-House.

The Evening Telegraph has the following list of killed and wounded:

Col. Woodward, son of Judge Woodward, of Pennsylvania, killed.

Col. Carroll, of the 95th Pennsylvania, killed.

Col. Gwynne, of the 116th Pennsylvania, wounded in the leg.

Maj. Darlington of the 18th Penn., killed.

Capt. Briggs, of the 11th Pennsylvania, wounded in the thigh.

Capt. Byrnes, of the 24 Penn., captured.

Gen. Longstreet was shot by a bullet in the neck and instated to be mortally wounded.

The following is a special dispatch to the Evening Telegraph:

WASHINGTON, Monday, May 9.

The telegraph is working to Rappahannock Station. Up to 5 o'clock this morning none of our wounded had arrived there. This creates surprise, and many rumors are in circulation in consequence.

Communications have been opened with Gens. SMITH and GILLMORE, who are near Richmond, and have been fighting.

It may be that some of our wounded have been sent to the York River.

There was no fighting yesterday, and our army is believed to be advancing successfully.

Fredericksburgh has been occupied, and the railroad is being repaired.

Mrs. Gen. MEADE has received a dispatch from her husband, dated Saturday, stating that "We are all well."

GEN. BUTLER'S ARMY.

THE BATTLE NEAR PETERSBURGH.

The Demonstration Against Petersburgh—A Severe Engagement on Saturday—Col. Harton's Brigade Destroys the Railroad—Beauregard in Command—Capture of the Gunboat Shoshone.

From Our Special Correspondent.

BERMUDA HUNDRED, VA., Saturday Evening, May 7, 1864.

I was in error in my last night's letter in saying that the Petersburgh and Richmond Railroad had been tapped by Gen. HINCKMAN at its junction with the City Point branch. The information was brought to me, and I unfortunately used it without stopping to seek proof of its truth. Such a thing could not have been done without first visiting Petersburgh, as the City Point branch starts from that place. What the gallant HINCKMAN really did was, to advance, by order of Gen. SMITH, with his brigade, (the First of Warren's division,) for the purpose of feeling the rebel position. He moved out on the Petersburgh road until he came to the enemy, whom he found posted upon the Port Walthall branch railroad. A lively skirmish followed, and it was apparent that the rebels were in strong force. They had no artillery, which fact gave us the advantage, and HINCKMAN, after a lively musketry fire, succeeded in driving them off the railroad. The rebels brought two brigades of infantry into action, and at times the fighting was at such close quarters that they could be heard calling out to our men, "You are cowards to use artillery! Wait until to-morrow and we will pay you off." As Gen. HINCKMAN had received orders not to bring on an engagement, he retired. The brilliant little affair lasted about an hour, and resulted in a loss to us of eight killed and sixty wounded.

Dr. SUGERY, Medical Director of the Eighteenth Corps, established a hospital at the house of a rebel named Sruse, which is delightfully situated on a bluff commanding a splendid view of the opposite side. Here the wounded were removed, and received excellent care. Following is a list of the names:

John Edmonds, Col H, 9th N. J., concussion right breast.

This morning the enemy paid us their compliments, both on the river and land. About six o'clock, a battery of field artillery came down from Richmond on the north bank of the river, and popped away at the naval vessels, which were lying for torpedoes near Turkey Bend. The small gunboat Shoshone, a purchased vessel, industriously known as a "pasteboard" boat, was some distance in advance of the others. The second shot from the rebel battery exploded the unfortunate boiler, and the poor vessel drifted. A few of the crew jumped overboard and swam to the opposite bank of the river, where they found shelter until the other boats came to and drove the insurgent rebels away. The man-report that the explosion of the boiler injured no less than seven, and that all the officers of the boat were taken prisoners. Admiral LEE kept up a vigorous shelling of the wood for some time after the remains were driven away.

The fight on shore began about the same time as the affair on the James River. Anticipating the attack, a plan was formed by our side having the object of advancing upon the Petersburgh and Richmond Railroad to destroy it. Five brigades were organized, and marched in three columns to meet the enemy. HINCKMAN's brigade again went out on the left, and three brigades, under Gen. BROOKS, were designed to engage the enemy at the position which he held yesterday in the encounter with HARTSUFF, and divert his attention while the column on the right advanced to the railroad near Chester Station. The day being excessively warm, it seemed to be almost impossible that any fighting could be done until the cool of the evening. But the rebels did not allow the heat to trouble them, and by 11 o'clock A. M. having received their artillery during the night, they opened fire briskly on our advancing columns, from about the point whence they had been driven last evening. Our men replied splendidly and in a short time the engagement on the left and centre became general. We could now and then hear the arrival of the trains both from Petersburgh and Richmond, which prisoners told us brought down reinforcements. They also said that Gen. BEAUREGARD had come up from Charleston with troops some days since, and was then commanding the forces in front. While the left and centre were engaged, for the most part in artillery practice, the right column, consisting of one brigade commanded by Col. BARTON, of the Forty-eighth New-York, hurried toward upon a road leading to the Petersburgh Railroad near Chester Station, where also is the junction of the Port Walthall road. Here they set a bridge on fire and destroyed the track for some distance, but being savagely pressed by the enemy, the order was given to retire. The damage to the road, I believe, is not thought to be very great. The fighting continued with unwavering vigor on both sides until 4 o'clock, when the rebels were reported to be falling back. After following them some distance an order was given for our troops to return to the line held in the morning.

The casualties of the day I have been unable to learn. Our loss is reported, however, not to have been very serious. Most of the wounds are from fragments of shells. Twelve or fifteen officers are reported to have been killed or wounded—among the latter Col. DARY, of the 169th New-York, whose injuries are said to be slight. Gen. HINCKMAN's horse was killed, and a ball tore his glove, grazing his hand. I picked up the names of a few of the wounded:

Aaron A. Brown, Co. F, 9th New-Jersey—shoulder, by piece of shell.
John H. Kelley, Co. A, 9th New-Jersey—ankle.
Wm. Harmon, Co. F, 9th New-Jersey—arm and thigh, by shell.
Cornelius Van Ness, Co. G, 9th New-Jersey—head, mortally.
Corp. Woodhull, Co. F, 9th New-Jersey—side, by shell.
Lieut. Frederick K. Robert, Co. G, 9th New-Jersey—thigh.

The following named soldiers were sun-struck: Edmund Boone, Co. C, 27th Mass.; Casper Heisler, Co. H, 27th Mass.; Frederick Williams, Co. A, 27th Mass.; Wm. Saxon, Co. G, 27th Mass.

The position of our forces here is considered impregnable. If we cannot get out of the Peninsula which contains us, it is certain that the rebels cannot get in. The natural defenses of the place are perfect, leaving little to be done in the way of intrenching, and the gunboats are depended on to keep the river open to Hampton Roads. We are very anxious to hear from GRANT, but beyond the knowledge of a battle having commenced near Chancellorsville, have nothing definite. A negro refugee from Richmond came to us to-day, reporting that LEE and BEAUREGARD had been seriously wounded.

We hear nothing from our cavalry expedition under KILPATRICK. It is thought that he was too late to cut the railroad at Hickford in time to prevent the men of PICKETT's division from coming up. Col. WEAZ, with his negro cavalry on the Peninsula, returned to Williamsburgh, after frighting the rebels badly, and was sent out again. H. J. W.

The Landing at Bermuda Hundred—The Enemy Demoralized in the Disaster—A Lieutenant Presented for Gallantry.

HEADQUARTERS OF GEN. BUTLER'S DIVISION, BERMUDA HUNDRED, VA., Friday, May 6, 1864.

The work of landing the troops, stores, horses and artillery, went on last night with unusual dispatch, considering that the necessary wharves had first to be constructed. The shallow water near the banks of the James River at this point, does not admit of the very close approach of the transports, and pontoon bridges and other temporary landing-places had to be made. Everybody having anything at all to do with the debarkation, exhibited great energy and heartiness in the work, and this morning there were plenty of evidences that very few persons connected with the expedition had passed the night in sleep. On the river banks, and in the fields some distance inland, huge piles of ordnance, commissary and quartermaster stores—all the bulky and vast materiel needed for the effective working of a grand army—reared themselves as monuments of the industry of the chiefs of the Engineer and Quartermaster's Departments. Finding my way on shore early in the morning from the steamer Spaulding, where Adj.-

Lee retreated in the direction of Spottsylvania Court-House, and it was reported from the front on Sunday morning that Gen. HANCOCK was in occupation of that place. Gen. GRANT's whole army was in vigorous pursuit. Our loss is reported at about 1,500 killed and 10,000 wounded. The order for sending the wounded to Washington has been rescinded, and other arrangements will be made.

WASHINGTON REPORTS.

Dispatches from Grant and Meade—The Pursuit of the Enemy—The Capture of Two Thousand Prisoners.

WASHINGTON, Monday, May 9.

Dispatches from Gen. MEADE and Lieut.-Gen. GRANT have just been received by the War Department.

Our army was in full pursuit of the enemy toward Richmond.

We have two thousand prisoners.

Our forces occupied Fredericksburgh at 8 o'clock last night.

The hospital for our wounded was established there.

The supplies, nurses, physicians and attendants have been ready for two days, and have gone forward.

The wounded are now estimated at about twelve thousand.

Renewed Battle on Sunday—Lee's Report of the Battle of Thursday.

WASHINGTON, Monday, May 9.

The Republican Extra says: "There is reason to believe, from dispatches already received since our first extra to-day, that Lee was forced to fight at Spottsylvania on Sunday, and was again repulsed and compelled to retreat.

Another statement is that Gen. GRANT had flanked him and got between the rebel army and Richmond.

Lee's report of the battle of Thursday last, published in the Richmond papers, has been telegraphed to this city by Gen. BURNSIDE. Lee says that Gen. GRANT attacked him, which contradicts the report received here that Lee made the attack upon our army. Lee employs this language, "Thank God we have repulsed the attacks of the enemy." He states that LONGSTREET is badly wounded.

Lee says nothing in his report about the fight on Friday.

Dispatches state Gen. BURNSIDE is still holding the line of railroad between Petersburgh and Richmond, preventing BEAUREGARD from reinforcing Lee.

Richmond and Petersburgh Not Evacuated—Gen. Hancock in Vigorous Pursuit of Lee—The Casualties.

WASHINGTON, Monday, May 9.

The Star publishes an extra this evening, saying:

There is no foundation for the report that the rebels are evacuating Richmond, nor that Petersburgh is evacuated.

The following is a list of the casualties, so far as received at the present time:

Brig.-Gen. ALEXANDER HAYS, of Pennsylvania, killed.

Brig.-Gen. JAMES S. WADSWORTH, of New-York, killed.

Brig.-Gen. WARD, of New-York, wounded.

Col. WEAVER, of the Forty-third New-York, wounded.

Col. STONE, of the Second Vermont, wounded.

Col. LAMAN, of the Third Vermont, wounded.

Col. STONE, of the Pennsylvania Bucktails, injured by a fall from his horse.

Col. WEAZ, of the Ninth Maine, killed.

Lieut.-Col. TYLER, wounded.

Lieut.-Col. WEAZ, wounded.

Major DOBLIN, of the Forty-ninth New-York, wounded.

Major DARLINGTON, of the Eighteenth Pennsylvania, wounded.

At the latest dates received by the War Department, Gen. HANCOCK was rapidly pushing by the left to Spottsylvania Court-house. Heavy cannonading was heard from that direction, yesterday, at Aquia Creek.

An official report of Gen. LEE to the rebel authorities at Richmond, transmitted by Gen. BURNSIDE to the War Department, states that the rebel loss in killed is not large, but that many are wounded.

Gen. LEE also states that he regrets to say that Gen. LONGSTREET is dangerously wounded; also, that Gen. PEGRAM and STAFFORD are wounded, and that Gen. JENKINS is killed.

Gen. JONES is also killed and his body is reported to be in our possession.

The Result of Friday's Fighting Very Advantageous—Lee Falling Back—He Leaves his Dead and Wounded in our Hands.

WASHINGTON, Monday, May 9.

The extra Star says:

"Reports from the front, not official, by parties that left there on Saturday, are to the effect that the result of the fighting on Friday was yet more advantageous to the Union cause than that of Thursday, resulting in Lee's falling back, according to some reports, twelve miles, leaving his dead and wounded in our hands.

GRANT, according to the same report, has a field full of prisoners, and had advanced to Spottsylvania Court-house.

A verbal message received at Gen. HALLECK's headquarters, by a messenger from the Army of the Potomac, is to the effect that the battle ended on Friday, the enemy having fallen back about twelve miles, leaving his dead and wounded on the field.

On Saturday, at 3 o'clock, Lee's army was in full retreat through Spottsylvania, and when the messenger left, Gen. HANCOCK was entering the place in pursuit.

We have captured many prisoners, but the number is not known.

Gen. WADSWORTH is reported killed, and Gen. WARD wounded.

Gen. BURNSIDE is reported to be within ten miles of Richmond. This information comes by a boat from Alexandria, passengers from there reporting the arrival of parties from GRANT's army with news to that effect.

Parties in Alexandria County yesterday heard firing, as from heavy siege guns, in the direction of Spottsylvania Court-house, from 11 A. M. until 1 P. M. The distance is over sixty miles, but the day was quiet and the wind from the southwest, making it not improbable that the firing was from the battle going on yesterday between GRANT and LEE.

Owing to the fact of the Rappahannock bridge being out of repair, the order directing that the wounded be brought to Washington has been countermanded for the present.

LATER.

WASHINGTON, Monday, April 9—noon.

A messenger who left the front of the Army of the Potomac at 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon, reports that Gen. HANCOCK was then at Spottsylvania Court-house, pursuing the rebels, who were retreating in good order by two roads.

From the Field of Battle—The Fighting of Friday—The Desperate Character of the Battle-Ground.

OLD WILDERNESS TAVERN, Friday, May 6—6 P. M. via WASHINGTON, Sunday, May 8—Midnight.

Our correspondent with the Army of the Potomac sends us the following:

The most terrific battle yet fought about to-day. Lee's entire army has made repeated and desperate assaults upon our right and left wings, commanded by HANCOCK and SEDGWICK, with temporary success, but has been driven back with great slaughter.

An attack was made about 4 o'clock this afternoon, simultaneously, upon our whole line, which was gallantly repulsed.

Toward dark the enemy concentrated upon our extreme right and fell suddenly upon SEDGWICK, crushing in a portion of his line.

Gen. SEDGWICK succeeded in reforming his line and securing it against further disaster, and the enemy withdrew from his front under cover of the darkness.

Our losses have been heavy.

Our army to-day has certainly achieved a decided success. It has baffled all the offensive efforts of the enemy.

The almost impenetrable woods with which the battle-ground is covered saved the rebels from a crushing defeat, as it enabled them to conceal their movements almost perfectly until the very moment of their execution.

The number of our wounded is estimated at from 6,000 to 8,000.

They have been forwarded to Rappahannock Station, and thence to the Washington hospitals.

I will send a detailed account by the next train.

THE VERY LATEST.

Gen. IRWIN telegraphs from the Old Wilderness Tavern, at 11½ A. M. on Saturday, that "the enemy presumed to be retiring."

Gen. BURNSIDE has sent a dispatch from Bermuda Hundreds, saying that he has made a demonstration against the railroad between Petersburgh and Richmond, and has succeeded, after some pretty severe fighting, in breaking the communication.

Gen. BEAUREGARD is in command of the rebel forces at Petersburgh and Richmond.

This authentic account disposes of the statement that the rebels have burned Petersburgh after evacuating it.

[The foregoing dispatch is a special one to the Boston Advertiser.]

PHILADELPHIA REPORTS.

The Advance on Saturday—Casualties—Longstreet Fatally Wounded.

PHILADELPHIA, Monday, May 9.

The following is bulletined here:

HEADQUARTERS ARMY OF THE POTOMAC, Saturday Evening.

At noon to-day our skirmishers advanced and formed, and found that Lee had retreated. Lieut.-Gen. GRANT pushed out strong picket forces on all the avenues leading westward, and resumed his original plan of campaign.

Gen. HANCOCK's corps is now at Spottsylvania Court-House.

The Evening Telegraph has the following list of killed and wounded:

Col. Woodward, son of Judge Woodward, of Pennsylvania, killed.

Col. Carroll, of the 95th Pennsylvania, killed.

Col. Gwynne, of the 116th Pennsylvania, wounded in the leg.

ENGLAND.

PROCEEDINGS OF PARLIAMENT.

In the House of Lords on Monday, April 26, nothing of importance occurred.

In the House of Commons on the same day, Mr. Bernard made explanations regarding the help alleged to have been given by Admiral Mundy to Garibaldi in Sicily. He denied that the Admiral had given any assistance to the General.

The Thames Conservancy Bill was read a second time after considerable discussion.

Other orders were disposed of, and the House adjourned.

THE CONFERENCE.

The Plenipotentiaries accredited by the seven European Powers to the conference holden in London, with a view to the restoration of peace, met on Monday, at 1 P. M., at the Treasury. All the members expected to the conference were present. They were in fellcitch.

Austria, Count Apponyi and Privy Counsellor Biegeleben; France, Prince de la Tour d'Auvergne; England, Earl Russell and Clarendon; Prussia, Count Bernstorff and Privy Counsellor Abeken; Russia, Baron Brunnow; Denmark, Baron de Blixen; Sweden, the Minister, and Counsellor Krieger; German Confederation, M. de Beust, Saxon Minister; Sweden, Count Wachtmeister.

A Cabinet banquet was held on Saturday at the official residence of the First Lord of the Treasury.

The Morning Post, Morning Herald and other Paris papers give the following as the basis for deliberation which Austria, Prussia and the German Confederation propose to bring forward at the conference now sitting: Integrity of the Danish monarchy; political and administrative autonomy of the Duchies; maintenance of their union in one single State; Rendsburg to be made a German Federal fortress as a guarantee of the autonomy and indivisibility of the Duchies.

THE ALEXANDRA.

The Times says:

"A writ from the Court of Exchequer was served on the Collector of Customs at Liverpool, ordering him to deliver the Alexandra to her owners, and in consequence the Collector has intimated that she will be delivered up on Monday, April 25."

THE MEXICAN BLOCKADE.

The Times says: "Earl Russell has received a copy of a letter dated Feb. 29, addressed by the Rear-Admiral commanding the French squadron in the Pacific, to Commander Pike, commanding Her Majesty's ship Devastation, notifying the effective blockade, by the French naval forces, of the ports of Acapulco and Mazzanilla, on the west coast of Mexico."

THE REBEL PIRATES.

A SUSPICIOUS WAR VESSEL—WHEREABOUTS OF THE ALABAMA.

The Hamburg bark Orion arrived at St. Helena March 23, and reports: On March 13, in lat. 34° S., lon. 12° E., observed a screw-steamer, under sail, with the American ensign flying, and a signal, "Heave to, and I will send a boat on board." The Orion was then hove to, when a boat was lowered from the steamer, and came alongside of us, with eight men, all armed, and an officer in uniform. The ship's papers and log were demanded. The latter being new, the old one was demanded. The boat's crew told my crew that they had 270 men on board; and it was also stated that they were last from Rio Janeiro, but had been seventy days at sea. Also that they were waiting off the Cape for a store-ship, when they were to proceed to China, to take the place of an American frigate in these waters, about which they made inquiries; but when told of the Alabama being in the China waters they appeared to consider it insignificant. He then left us. The vessel is a three-masted schooner, sails very fast, and to all appearance is British-built. The Alabama put into Table Bay, March 20, for coals and other supplies. The total number of ships destroyed and captured in the Indian Seas has been seven: The Amanda, Winnet Sewell, Conrad, Manhattan (or Texas Star), Sonora, Highlander and Emma Jane, but Capt. Semmes reckoned the damage indirectly done to the Federal commerce by his cruise in the Indian Seas as equivalent to $14,000,000.

As the presence of the Alabama had caused such a panic that great numbers of the Federal ships lay in Singapore and other harbors, for from three months, unable to get freight, and afraid to venture out to sea. The Alabama was expected to remain in Table Bay for three or four days.

GARIBALDI.

EXTRAORDINARY PROCEEDINGS OF THE POLICE—A DEMONSTRATION IN FAVOR OF GARIBALDI DISPERSED.

Garibaldi visited Windsor, and looked over the royal furniture on Saturday.

On Saturday afternoon the police were guilty of most extraordinary proceeding. A great body of workingmen had been convened on Primrose Hill, near London, to protest against the manner in which Garibaldi had been induced to leave. Mr. Beales had scarcely taken the chair when a strong body of police were marched to the spot, and insisted that the meeting should disperse. In effect, they drove the people from the hill, and behaved with great violence to some of the Workingmen's Committee.

Garibaldi reached Plymouth on April 6.

FRANCE.

A telegram from Paris of April 24, says:

"Disturbances have broken out in Tunis. France and England have dispatched a naval force to that quarter to protect foreigners."

The Memorial Diplomatique in an article on the Conference, says: "Lord Clarendon has returned to London, bearing, in the name of his government, formally engaged to support energetically the demand for an armistice which the Prince de la Tour d'Auvergne has been instructed to make at the first sitting of the Conference. In other words, France and England have mutually bound themselves to declare war against that Power which should refuse to agree to a truce. We believe ourselves able to state that no mention of an armistice was made at the first sitting of the conference, since no impression a question could only be negatively discussed by the representatives of Germany. We believe that an armistice will be based upon the anti-Danish principle, unless Denmark should refuse to evacuate the Island of Alsen. Austria and Prussia will then, on their side, evacuate the territory of Jutland."

Accounts from the manufacturing districts are favorable.

There was no variation in the Paris corn market. Rentes very flat, closing at 69f. 85c.

RUSSIA.

Advices from St. Petersburgh state that it is not likely that Russia will send a second plenipotentiary to the Conference. Russia, however, the court forenoon be changed to a general congress, Prince Gortschakoff would proceed to London.

PRUSSIA.

A telegram from Berlin, of April 26, says: "Yesterday an engagement took place off Rugen Island, between a Prussian gunboat and the Danish iron-clad frigate Tordenskiold. The Danish frigate sailed off, followed by three sloops-of-war Prussian boats, which failed to overtake her. The Tordenskiold was, however, subsequently overtaken by the Grille and set on fire, but the Dane succeeded in extinguishing the flames. The Minister of Public Worship has sent Privy Counsellor Samm to Schleswig to inquire into the condition and wants of the school system in that Duchy."

AUSTRIA.

ITALY.

A telegram from Turin, of April 25th, says: "The Italian frigate Re Galantuomo arrived this morning at Gibraltar."

A dispatch from Turin, of April 24, says: "In consequence of the disturbances that have taken place at Tunis, the Italian Government have dispatched two men-of-war to that quarter."

THE WAR IN DENMARK.

A telegram from Copenhagen, of April 22, says: "Yesterday all was quiet at Dybbol. Among the Danish dead lying in Ulsebol are the following officers: three Colonels, five Captains, eight Lieutenants, three cadets and one Chief Surgeon.

The King has signed a proclamation to the army, in which he says: "The sufferings and losses of the last few days will not be in vain; they will bear fruits in this struggle against violence and injustice—a struggle the aim of which is the existence and independence of our country."

A telegram of April 23 says: "Yesterday and the day before encounters took place between the outposts of our Fourth Division and the enemy, who had advanced into Jutland. The enemy has occupied Hiersing. Nothing of importance occurred yesterday. The enemy is at work in the Dybbol intrenchments, and is strengthening his batteries upon the shore of the Alsen Sound."

A telegram from Flensburg of April 23 says the King of Prussia has arrived here, and taken up his residence at the house of F. Callsen, a merchant of this city.

The General Staff will leave on the 23d for Vejle.

News from Vejle announces that a body of Prussians had arrived on the 20th, and proceeded, after a few hours' rest, to Horsens, where 6,000 Danes have further thence.

Fleury Von Rennes has arrived at Flensburg.

A telegram from Berlin of April 24 says: "The King of Prussia returned from his visit to the Duchies this morning. He was accompanied by Herr Von Bismark and Gen. Von Manteuffel."

A great distinction was observable in the discount demand at the Bank to-day, applications having been unimportant. In the open market the terms were not perceptibly lower. The supply of money in the Stock Exchange was good, at 4½ ¾ cent.

Foreign Securities remained firm, notwithstanding a partial check to the continental receipt of dull prices from Paris, where the position of the bullion question creates distrust, the stock in the Bank of France being unusually low for this season of the year. The Bank return presents no feature of interest except the continued gain on the Deposit average, which is significant of the ease in the Money Market, in the absence of any decided demand either from the Merchants or the Brokers. The Loans are nearly two millions lower than last Monday. The rate for Money to the Brokers to-day is 6 ¾ cent., as the rule, the higher figure of 7 ¾ cent. being rather exceptional. There is not much disposition, withal, to speculate on cheap Money, either in Stocks or Merchandise, pending the great and momentous military events in Virginia. These continue to absorb the attention of the Stock and Corn Exchanges, and while the prevailing feeling to-day is one of strong hope in decided success, much prudence is manifested in awaiting the end of the struggle between Grant and Lee. The falling back of the latter, which was confirmed in the afternoon, caused a decline in the price of Gold to 169¾@170 per cent. Exchange on London is 109¼@110 ¾ cent. in Gold; the Currency rates very much unsettled.

The Stock Exchange was disposed to a partial degree of firmness on the Railway list in the forenoon; buyers being tempted to speculate to some extent on the additional decline of last week. At the Second Board prices were not so firm, and part of the advance of the morning was lost. There was an active inquiry for Government Securities and the long date Stocks of 1881 and 7-30 ¾ cents, convertible into them were higher, and the 5-20's steady. The Railway Mortgages and Border State Stocks were also steady.

At 4 o'clock the following prices were made, as compared with Saturday afternoon. There was a steady feeling after the adjournment of the Second Board, but without much business on the Street or at the Open Board of Brokers. On the average of the Railway list prices left off lower than on Saturday:

NEWS OF THE DAY.

THE REBELLION.

The news this morning fully confirms all that was promised yesterday. Gen. GRANT'S victory brightens and looms up in importance as time brings us fuller particulars. The official dispatches from Gens. GRANT and MEADE announce that LEE began his retreat on Friday night, and on Saturday morning he was promptly pursued by our army. Gen. HANCOCK, with the Second Corps, pressing forward and passing through Spottsylvania Court-house on Sunday morning. On Sunday, at noon, headquarters of the army were twenty miles south of the battle field toward Richmond. Fredericksburg was occupied by our cavalry at eight o'clock on Saturday evening, and a depot for the wounded will be at once established there. The news from Gen. BUTLER is regarded as favorable. He had a severe engagement on Saturday with BEAUREGARD'S troops, in which the latter were driven back, and the railroad destroyed. Among the casualties on our side is Brig.-Gen. JAMES S. WADSWORTH, killed. LEE, in his report of the battle of Thursday, reports four of his Generals killed and wounded, among them LONGSTREET, severely. The news has brought forth from the President a recommendation for thanksgiving and prayer.

A special dispatch to the Evening Post says that "before crossing the Rapidan Gen. GRANT wrote to the President a frank, manly letter, telling him that the Administration had granted him everything he could desire, and that the responsibility of the present movement was entirely his own."

The Washington Intelligencer, of Monday, says: Brig.-Gen. EDWARD R. S. CANBY was confirmed by the Senate, on Saturday last, as a Major-General of Volunteers, and the same evening set out for the Southwest, under orders to relieve Gen. BANKS of his command.

FROM EUROPE.

By the arrival of the steamship Hansa, from Southampton April 27, we have two days' later news from Europe. Parliamentary proceedings were unimportant. The Conference met on the 25th, and all the representatives were not present, and nothing was done. The Alexandra would be delivered up to her owners on the 25th. A suspicious war steamer had been seen by the Hamburg bark Orion, on the 13th of March, which spoke her, but gave no information as to who she was. The Alabama was in Table Bay, Indian Ocean, on the 20th March, but had destroyed no more vessels, though she had driven all American shipping from those waters. GARIBALDI had reached Plymouth April 26, to take his departure. The meeting of workingmen, in London, to protest against the treatment of GARIBALDI, was dispersed by the police. There was nothing new in the Danish war. The first thing demanded in the Conference would be an armistice.

CONGRESS.

In the Senate yesterday an adverse report was made on the expediency of changing the southern front of the Treasury building. The bill for the erection of a branch mint at Philadelphia was passed. Mr. HOWARD reported a substitute for the Pacific Railroad Bill. The Senate considered the Bank Bill at length, but little or no progress was made. An amendment by Mr. DOOLITTLE, to keep the circulation of the banks within certain bounds, was voted down. Mr. WADE, of Ohio, from the Committee on the Conduct of the War, made a report in reference to the returned prisoners at Baltimore and Annapolis. On his motion, 25,000 copies were ordered to be printed for the use of the Senate. Mr. CONKLING then read a dispatch from the Secretary of War, announcing a victory by Gen. GRANT, when the Senate adjourned.

In the House, on motion of Mr. ROGERS, of New-Jersey, a resolution was adopted, instructing the Committee on Naval Affairs to examine into the expediency of locating the proposed navy-yard on the west side of the Hudson River, nearly opposite Yonkers. The Missouri contested election case of BLOCK against LOAN came up, but after discussion was postponed, without any conclusion on the subject.

GENERAL NEWS.

The draft is ordered to take place in this City to-morrow, (Wednesday,) for the deficiency of our quota under the last call for 300,000 men, which is believed to be less than 700. This number will be distributed pro-rata to the several Congressional districts in the City. It is understood that the draft is to be made on the same day throughout this State. The orders for the draft here were sent on several days ago, and yesterday peremptory orders to make it on Wednesday were received. In consequence of this, the labors of the Supervisors' Recruiting Committee will close to-day. All the men they enlist to-day, however, will be allowed in reduction of the number for which the draft is ordered to be made. The Committee will submit their report to the Board of Supervisors at the meeting to be held to-day.

On Saturday night last PATRICK GARRY, a conductor of car No. 41 of the Second-avenue line, while in the discharge of his duty on the car platform, was struck on the left temple with a stone thrown by one of a gang of forty or fifty rowdies on the Fourth Ward. GARRY was knocked on the pavement, taken up insensible and conveyed to the New-York Hospital, where he died soon after. An investigation has been commenced in the case by Coroner WILDEY. The testimony thus far adduced shows it to have been a most malicious and brutal outrage on the part of the gang. The perpetrator had not been arrested at a late hour last night; but Capt. RYAN, of the Fourth Precinct, has a full description of him, and that officer has no doubt but that he will succeed in finding him. The affair occurred at the corner of William and Pearl streets. Deceased was a native of this State, and 22 years of age.

It is stated that a dam is building above the falls at Alexandria, Louisiana, for the purpose of raising the Red River at that point sufficiently to float over the gunboats. In the Savannah (Ga.) News we find this paragraph: "A gentleman who is posted advises the editor of the Macon Telegraph that what is called the 'winter rise' in the Western rivers takes place usually in June, from the thawing of the ice and snow in the mountains. If this be the case, the Yankee gunboats will probably be floated out of Red River before midsummer, if they should not be destroyed ad interim. He says they are detained by no 'raft,' but by a shoal just above the town of Alexandria, where he felt sure they would be caught when they went above it at this season of the year."

Yesterday afternoon an affray occurred at the porter-house, No. 112 Mulberry-street, between a party of thieves and roughs on the one side, and a notorious character, WALTER BELL, alias "Scotty the Munger" on the other. Some eighteen shots were fired. Scotty was killed, one of his opponents had a finger taken off, and a woman, who witnessed the scene, was dangerously wounded, being shot through the neck.

In the Court of General Sessions, yesterday, AUGUSTUS FITZPATRICK was tried and convicted of grand larceny. Prisoner was the boy arrested a few weeks since in the act of extracting a $500 bill through a hole in an exchange broker's window by means of a crooked wire.

Neither Board of the Common Council had a quorum at their meetings yesterday. The Aldermen stand adjourned without day, and the Councilmen to 7 o'clock P. M., on Thursday.

There were no new developments in the Tax Commissioners' imbroglio yesterday. The old board still possess the books and papers, and work in the office is quite at a standstill, the clerks doing little or nothing.

In consequence of the strike of the 'longshoremen, and threatened disturbance, a large force of police were sent to the "infected districts," yesterday. There was no need of their services, however, as no acts of violence were attempted.

The cattle market shows a lighter supply, and firmer prices than last week. The receipts are 3,000. Sales were moderately brisk yesterday, with an advance of about ¼c. ℔ lb. over last week's quotations—the best steers rating at 17c.@17½c. ℔ lb., net weight; good fair lots sold at 15c.@16½c. There were but few inferior cattle on sale. The arrivals of sheep at Sixth-street this week are very light. Prime sheep have been sold since Wednesday last at 10½c. ℔ lb., live weight. Fair to good lots are worth from 9½c.@10½c., with the wool on. Shorn sheep rate at 6½c.@7½c., and the very best may be quoted at 7½c., gross.

The triumph of GRANT and the consequent fall in gold brought business operations to a stand yesterday. Light sales of produce were made, though Flour declined 15c.@20c. ℔ bbl.; Wheat 5c. and Oats 2c.@3c. ℔ bushel; Whisky 3c.@4c. ℔ gallon; Pork 25c. ℔ bbl. Cotton, Groceries, and most kinds of general merchandise, were pathily neglected. Freights were very dull.

The price of Gold was 14@2 ℔ cent. lower yesterday afternoon than on Saturday. Money was easy. Government Stocks in demand. The Railways unsettled.

The Retreat of Lee.

The great and salient fact in the intelligence from Virginia this morning, is the confirmation of yesterday's announcement that LEE had retreated from before Lieut.-Gen. GRANT. His flight commenced on Friday night, immediately after the drubbing he had received on that day and the preceding. His course seems to have been nearly due South, in the direction of Spottsylvania Court-house and Richmond. On Saturday, the Lieutenant-General promptly gave chase to him, made a march on that day of twenty miles, passed through Spottsylvania Court-house at daylight on Sunday; and there may be truth in the telegram that LEE was forced again to fight on that day, was again repulsed and compelled to continue his retreat. Secretary STANTON, whose dispatches to Gen. DIX have been our most reliable sources of information, sends word under date of yesterday evening, that GRANT is pushing on to Richmond, and that the official belief is that he is achieving a complete victory. The President also sends to the country a modest note of congratulation and calls upon the people to render thanks to the God of Battles.

In leaving his defensive works on Wednesday last, almost simultaneously with the crossing of the Rapidan by our army, and in his energetic assault upon our lines on Thursday and Friday, LEE exhibited a confidence that has terribly failed to justify itself. He failed to break our left, failed to pierce our centre, failed to turn our right, failed to separate our corps, failed to flank us on either wing. He succeeded only in making fall-aways, and in putting a large number of his own men and of ours hors de combat. Falling in the field, he attempted to succeed in retreat; but how far he has been successful, is yet to be learned.

It looks very much as if GRANT meant to make this pursuit a determined one, though he cannot make it a simple or an easy one. It is a new thing for the Army of the Potomac to follow up a defeated enemy, but we believe it is a thing the Army of the Potomac can do.

It is very likely that LEE will now move by his right to head our army, and fall back, step by step, to the North Anna River, behind which he can make a bold stand, if his rear be kept clear by the force about the rebel capital. It is possible that our army, moving by its left, could by forced marches reach the railroad at the same time, and push along it too rapidly for the enemy to do it much damage.

Evidently the contest will now be for the possession of the Central Railroad—that almost vital line with the rebels. The river in its front gives the enemy an advantage that [illegible] them to make a long stand behind it, is to be hoped that our heavy force of cavalry may be able to drive them from the river, however determined they may be to cling to its right bank. Time is the great thing now. If LEE can gain time to throw up batteries and connect them with lines of rifle-pits, that will be so much against us; but we are glad to see that GRANT means to give him no time.

There is but one thing to be apprehended, and that is the heavy force of rebel cavalry. But Gen. SHERIDAN will doubtless watch closely the manœuvreings of STUART.

Other facts of the morning about the operations of last week relate to the occupation of Fredericksburgh, which was effected on Sunday night, and to the losses we have suffered, which are estimated at twelve thousand. The wounded have been sent to Fredericksburgh, and we suppose that the railroad from thence to Aquia Creek will be at once opened and a new base there established. It was doubtless for this purpose that GRANT sent his order to the War Department on Saturday for railroad construction trains.

We shall hope this week to receive further news of victory in this struggle in Virginia, as well as in the operations in Georgia, which Secretary STANTON announces were to take the form of battle yesterday. And the whole country, it is to be hoped, will devoutly heed the pious advice of the President.

The Empire State Not to be Disgraced.

We rejoice in the efforts that are being made by our State officers, and by public-spirited capitalists to prevent the stain which the action of the Legislature, in virtually deciding that our foreign creditors should not be paid their interest in gold, is bringing upon our State credit. It passes understanding how a Legislature of intelligent and honest men could have thus yielded to the wretched sophistry that aimed to show that it was no violation of good faith to pay the foreign creditors in what our laws recognize to be "legal tender."

The foreign creditor lent the State of New-York his money, which was gold, and was promised certain interest on that money. That interest he understood and we understood to be five per cent. of that gold money. If we will only pay him now that interest in paper money, which is worth only about three-fifths as much as gold, we virtually compel him to accept three per cent. instead of five. Most palpably this is a violation of the agreement. The same principle would allow us, if the bonds were due, to pay him the entire amount in our depreciated money—that is to say six hundred dollars in gold for every thousand dollars in gold that he lent us! It would enable every Southern State to clear itself of its old European indebtedness by paying twenty gold dollars for every thousand borrowed—the twenty dollars being first put in the shape of Confederate legal tender, which is about worth fifty to one. The idea is monstrous. Did the men at Albany deliberately mean to make the State of New-York a bye-word and a hissing throughout Europe?

We know that it is said that no distinction ought to be made between the foreign and the domestic creditors. If this be true, then pay the domestic creditors gold. Accept any consequences, sooner than take disgrace in the sight of the world. But it is not true. The contract formed with the foreigner was absolute. He agreed to it without reference to contingencies, without any knowledge of or concern for our internal affairs. He took it for granted that we would manage our affairs, so that we would repay him his money—precisely as he who sells goods to the father of a family, or the head of a manufactory, would take it for granted that the family affairs or the factory affairs will be so managed that he will get his pay when his bills fall due. But where an American lends his money to the General Government, or to the State Government, he lends it not only as an individual, but under his relations as a citizen. It is in some sort a family affair with him, and the transaction is subject to domestic regulations. As a member of the State he can justly be called upon to make sacrifices, to conform to the necessities of the State, when it would be altogether wrong to exact anything of the kind from a foreigner. Our internal war has made it necessary for our Government to issue paper currency. To prevent this currency from ruinously depreciating, our Government has been compelled to make it "legal tender" for the payment of all domestic debts. There is no sound reason for making any distinction between these debts. All debts contracted before the rebellion were contracted with reference to the specie standard, and it is no greater hardship for the domestic creditor of the State to be obliged to take his pay, or his interest, in legal tender, than for the creditor of an individual to be obliged to do the same thing. On the other hand, it is no more just for the State to oblige a foreign creditor to accept our "legal tender" for his dues, than it would be for an individual merchant to attempt to do the same thing with his foreign creditor. Should the latter attempt that, he would be set down at once as a knave.

The State of New-York was never before put in such a dishonorable position. We wonder how representatives, who voted to treat the foreign creditors in this fashion, could go home and look their honest constituents in the face. It is true enough that our currency is in a bad plight, and that this has greatly disturbed the relations of debtor and creditor here at home. But this will not affect our external obligations one little. Whether we are in peace or in war, in good fortune or in ill-fortune, with a specie currency or a paper currency, foreigners who have lent us gold are entitled to have gold back, when either principal or interest is due. The State of New-York is able to pay it, and we are thankful that there are honest men in the State who are resolved that she shall pay it. The people, we will be bound for it, will take good care that the next Legislature sent to Albany will be men who know the meaning of public faith, and its priceless worth too, and who will surely meet any liability which may be assumed, either by our State officers, or by our private capitalists, to save the State from dishonor. Let arrangements be at once made so as to insure, beyond all possibility of failure, the payment in gold of every dollar of interest the very day it falls due to our foreign creditor.

Public Offices and Those Who Fill Them —Mr. SUMNER's Bill.

Mr. SUMNER has introduced a bill into the Senate, which, owing to the general absorption of the public attention in the great events which are taking place in the field, will probably not attract much notice, but it nevertheless attempts to deal with a matter which is of more importance, we venture to say, to the stability of this Government, than any other one thing except the extinction of the rebellion. It is neither more nor less than a sweeping measure of administrative reform; obliging all candidates for situations in the public service to pass an examination before a board appointed for the purpose; giving them their offices during good behavior, and with promotion through the various grades in the order of seniority, and a retiring pension after a certain term of service.

We have not much hope that the bill will pass this time. The public is not yet sufficiently alive to the magnitude and danger of the evil it proposes to remove, and Congressmen have too much interest in its retention to allow us to hope that they will ever consent to make war against it until they are driven to it by pressure from their constituents. But we feel satisfied that we shall not have to wait very long after the critical period of the war has passed for people to be thoroughly convinced that this Government cannot be carried on much longer with the present system of making appointments in the civil service. The work of government will henceforward be too vast and varied, the sum of money passing through its hands every year too great, the details with which it will have to deal too complicated, to render it possible to perform it without a staff of trained officials, furnished with the usual motives to behave well and to make the public service the whole and sole business of their lives. There will be a standing army equal to that of several European first-class Powers, a navy perhaps the largest in the world, a post-office on a scale hitherto unknown, a revenue system of unequaled magnitude and complexity, and a revenue equal, if not greater, than that of Great Britain. We do not believe there is an intelligent man in the community who honestly believes that all these departments can possibly be administered in such a way as to hold the Union together with officials selected, as now, without the slightest reference to their character, qualifications, or to anything except the claims of themselves or their patrons on "the party," and discharged as often as the Administration is changed, or oftener. They would be more than human who, under such circumstances, would do their duty either honestly, or faithfully, or efficiently.

There is, however, a still stronger objection to the present system than that drawn from its inefficiency. It will henceforward furnish the Administration, for the time being, with an engine of corruption such as has never before been lodged in the hands of any man or any body of men—and such, as in our system of Government, could not fail to be sooner or later fatal to our liberties. If every President is to be armed with the power of employing the vast army of functionaries whom we are to have henceforward in our service, as electioneering agents, and to make their bread dependent on their zeal in securing him a continuance in office, the Presidential election would soon become a sorry farce. No man, no matter what his character, is fit to be intrusted with any such power; and no people animated by even ordinary regard for their own security would intrust him with it.

All danger of the growth of a bureaucracy amongst us, or in other words, all danger of the loss by the public of proper control and influence over those who serve it, will, of course, always be avoided by the ordinary changes in the heads of departments. As long as we can turn the President and his Cabinet out of office every four years, we have very effectual security for the good behavior of his subordinates.

THAT RAM.—We are glad to have the news that a monitor has been ordered to the North Carolina coast to attend to that rebel ram which has been cavorting about there for the past fortnight. Its first exploit was in dashing down the Roanoke River, attacking our vessels at its mouth, and assisting in the capture of Plymouth and its garrison. Subsequently it threatened Little Washington, at the mouth of the Tar River, and caused its evacuation. It was next reported to be rushing down in the direction of Newbern, on the Neuse River, and seems to have caused great perturbation there. We had vessels enough in the North Carolina Sound, but none of them dared to give fight to it.

When the monitor gets within sight of it, we shall probably see some lively work, and there will doubtless very soon be one rebel ram the less in the universe.

OBITUARY.

GEN. WADSWORTH.

Gen. JAMES S. WADSWORTH, whose death, we deeply regret to say, is reported from the field of battle, and who was one of the earliest and most ardent volunteers for the war, was a well-known and highly respected citizen of this State. Born to a rich patrimony in the Valley of the Genesee, at the opening of the present century, Gen. WADSWORTH possessed unusual advantages, had he chosen to use them, for taking a front position long ago in public life. The son and heir of the great land owner and philanthropist, JAMES WADSWORTH, of Geneseo, he had the opportunity, which is accorded to a comparatively small class in these Northern States, of following politics as a profession, unencumbered with pecuniary anxieties. But his ambition from an early period of his life appears to have been directed toward volunteer military service. And he set far higher store, so far as his own feelings were concerned, by the position which his valor had won for him in the national army, than if he had been the successful candidate for Governor of his native State, in place of Mr. SEWARD. His first service in the field was under McDOWELL at Bull Run. About the 1st of August, 1861, he was commissioned a Brigadier-General; and during the long drilling months which succeeded Gen. McCLELLAN'S appointment to the command-in-chief, Gen. WADSWORTH won for himself the credit among the most unexpected army officers of having his brigade, long before the close of the year, in the most efficient condition alike, as to drill and discipline. He chafed exceedingly under the long delays intervening between the first great battle of the war and the advance on Manassas, nine months later. And his evidence before the Committee on the Conduct of the War, shows the zealous and ardent temperament which controlled his views of military duty, and which led him straight into the front of danger and death in this last great conflict. In the Spring of 1862, Gen. WADSWORTH was appointed Military Governor of the District of Columbia; and on the advance by Gen. McCLELLAN to Manassas, and subsequently to the Peninsula, Gen. WADSWORTH'S command extended to Occoquan Bay, and for the range of duty embraced in this wide territory, he was left on the 22 of April, 1862, with some 15,000 infantry and about 4,000 artillery, and of this force one-fourth was ordered to the Peninsula, leaving the defence of Washington with a garrison of less than half what he considered requisite. In the Winter of '62-3, after his defeat as candidate for Governor of this State, he passed several months in the field, and was engaged at the battle of Chancellorsville. He was charged later in the season with a mission to the Southwest and the Gulf States, in connection with the organization of colored troops; and his latest position was that of General of the Fourth Division of the Fifth Corps. He gave his alms as well as himself to the service of his country, and used his means with the utmost liberality to aid the national cause. His generosity to the poor, his noble simplicity of character, his pure and heroic patriotism, his high religious tone, combined to give him the reputation by which he will long be remembered, of a Christian gentleman and soldier.

GEN. ALEXANDER HAYS.

Gen. HAYS, whose name appears among the list of killed at the great battle of the Wilderness, was commander of the Second Brigade in BIRNEY'S division, in the corps of Gen. HANCOCK, and fell in the desperate assault upon that column on Thursday last. He was little over 40 years of age at the time of his death. Born at Pittsburgh, Penn., he entered the Academy at West Point in 1840, graduating four years later. His first commission, in the Fourth United States Infantry, bore date of 1842, and he was greatly distinguished two years later for his bravery at the battles of Resaca de la Palma and Palo Alto, in Mexico. He was first brought into prominent notice since the present war broke out, as Colonel of the Sixty-third Pennsylvania Infantry. He was at the battles of Seven Pines and Fair Oaks, and in September following, he got his commission as Brigadier-General. Subsequently, in the battles of Fredericksburgh, Chancellorsville, Gettysburgh, Bristoe Station and Mine Run, he greatly distinguished himself. At Gettysburgh, he commanded a division with such distinguished ability as to secure high compliments from Gen. HANCOCK; and we learn that in the action in the Wilderness he sustained his reputation of being one of the most splendid officers in the veteran Army of the Potomac.

ABRAHAM GESNER, M. D.

This celebrated chemist and geologist died at Halifax, Nova Scotia, on the 20th of April last, in the 67th year of his age. Though more generally known here as a chemist, Dr. GESNER was one of the most experienced geologists in America. He surveyed New-Brunswick and Prince Edward's Island under the instructions of their several Governments, and from his extensive knowledge of the Lower Provinces generally, was enabled to write of them in a clear and instructive style. His other works are Remarks on the Geology and Mineralogy of Nova Scotia, New-Brunswick, with Notes for Emigrants; Industrial Resources of Nova-Scotia; A Practical Treatise on Coal, Petroleum and other Distilled Oils, and a work on The Fisheries of the Provinces, which he had just completed, and which will be published by the Government of Nova Scotia. Dr. GESNER'S principal and most successful effort in practical chemistry was the discovery and introduction of kerosene oil, and oils distilled from coal, bitumen, &c., into this country. He was a man of untiring energy and perseverance, and deserving the high reputation which he enjoyed both here and in Europe as a man of science.

TROTTING AT THE FASHION COURSE YESTERDAY.

Though comparatively an off day, and out of the programme, there was a goodly attendance at the Fashion yesterday, to witness the match for $500, half forfeit, mile heats, best three in five, to wagons, between the two Harlem horses—the gray gelding Sam and the bay gelding Billy—both celebrated on the road, and both having numerous partisans. Prior to the day, and during the morning, quite a considerable amount of money had been wagered at evens—but on the track 50 to 29 was laid on Sam—and much interest was felt in the result, which promised a well-contested trot, and ended in its being the best that has taken place on the Fashion this season.

First Heat.—After some two or three attempts to get off, a good send off was accomplished—both trotting on good terms to the turn, where Sam went off his feet, and Billy led nearly a length to the quarter pole in 45c.; taking the back stretch, Sam got down to his work again and led Billy half a length in the half-mile in 1:37; reaching the three-quarters, both went up, but were quickly caught, Billy having a slight lead to the home stretch turn—a good fair, head-and-head trot ensued, but Billy breaking within a few yards of the score, the gray came home a clever winner in 2:51.

Second Heat.—Four to one on Sam. A fair start was made after three attempts—Billy having the advantage to the turn and continuing it to the quarter pole, Sam catching (0:44.) Sam now took the lead in the half mile—both went down, but Sam the sooner, and he now was at least two lengths ahead, passing the half in 1:26. On the third quarter Billy closed the gap, but breaking at the home-stretch turn, left the gray to come home an easy winner by a length in 2:41¾.

Third Heat.—Seven or eight attempts were made at scoring, in the midst of which a heavy thunder shower came up—drenching the drivers, and compelling the spectators to seek shelter helter-skelter. A long delay ensued, but at last they got off, Sam leading to the turn, where he went up, and Billy passed him, accomplished the first quarter in 0:44¾. In the back stretch Billy increased his lead to a couple of lengths, continuing it to the half mile in 1:27. No alteration of moment took place to the three-quarter pole, but taking the home-stretch turn Sam went up and closed the gap, and a splendid spirt ensued, terminating in a declared dead heat in 2:55.

Fourth Heat.—After four attempts they got away, but Billy broke immediately after getting the word, and Sam took a strong lead to the first quarter in 0:42¾, maintaining it down the back stretch to the half mile, in 1:28; on the third quarter Sam went up, and Billy took a lead of two lengths in the home stretch turn, where he broke and let Sam up, but being quickly caught, a good trot-in ensued, Sam winning inside the distance cleverly by two lengths, in 2:52.

THE 'LONGSHOREMEN ON A STRIKE.—A general strike was made yesterday morning by the 'longshoremen engaged on the North and East River piers. The North River hands demanding 37½ cents per hour and ten hours' work per day, and the East River men the same rate and but nine hours' labor per day.

In the morning the men appeared very much dissatisfied and a riot was expected, but when Inspector LEONARD appeared with a force of two hundred men all signs of a riot disappeared and the men became suddenly very orderly. In addition to their own increase of pay, the strikers demanded that the men engaged by the transportation companies should also receive 37½ cents per hour. At present they receive $1 50 and the 'longshoremen $2 50 per day.

ARRIVAL OF COLORED TROOPS.—Two hundred and fifty recruits, a portion of the Fifth Massachusetts Colored Cavalry, passed through this City yesterday, en route for Washington.

GEN. STEELE'S ARMY.

Full Particulars of the Recent Advance and Retreat—The Meeting Near—The Loss of Wagons and Prisoners—The Fight at Saline-Point.

St. Louis, Monday, May 9.

The Democrat of this morning publishes the following:

The expedition of Gen. STEELE towards Shreveport has ended with his return, under rather startling circumstances, to Little Rock.

A gentleman conversant with the facts has arrived here, and communicates a statement to the following purport:

Gen. STEELE left Little Rock with some 12,000 infantry and 3,000 cavalry, the latter under Gen. CARR.

Arkadelphia was occupied without difficulty, and a force moved forward to Camden.

Between Arkadelphia and Camden a subsistence train of 100 wagons was cut off and captured by the enemy, together with the escort of 400 men, who suddenly found themselves in the hands of a superior force, and made little resistance.

At Camden STEELE soon found the rebels, about 8,000 strong, cavalry, in his rear, and 500 wagons, dispatched from Camden toward Pine Bluff for forage, with an escort of 1,000 men, were captured by the enemy.

The steamer Alone, with twenty tons of ammunition for STEELE and his army, was sunk, forty miles below Little Rock, by coming in collision with another steamer.

The pilot who had charge of the boat was put under arrest on suspicion of treachery, but subsequently was released.

STEELE could find no stores to subsist his troops on, and had to reduce their allowance to quarter-rations.

As the movement of Gen. STEELE was to be co-operative with the main one of Gen. BANKS, which had failed, there remained no course but to return to Little Rock.

Gen. FRANK undertook to retain Gen. STEELE at Camden, while Gen. MARMADUKE set off for Little Rock. STEELE, to act for the safety of the capital of Arkansas, with its Union population and millions of dollars worth of Federal stores, and for the rescue of his army, broke through the lines of Gen. FRANK, and set out to get to Little Rock in time to save it from MARMADUKE, who was also making every exertion to reach and bag the proposed game.

At Saline Fork it became necessary to give FRANK battle, which was handsomely done. The rebels were well mounted and in fine condition. The fight was protracted and bloody, lasting for three or four hours, resulting in the complete repulse of the enemy, and leaving STEELE to resume his exciting race with MARMADUKE.

MARMADUKE approached Little Rock, throwing shells into the city, on the afternoon of the 1st instant. Shortly afterward CARR'S cavalry came up, and these joining the troops at the post, compelled MARMADUKE to relinquish his undertaking. He made little resistance as the main body of STEELE'S army was rapidly arriving.

The Arkansas Legislature was in session, and probably not one of its members, if caught, would have been spared by the exasperated foe.

During the entire march from Camden, our troops were constantly skirmishing with the enemy, who hung upon their rear and flanks, strenuously endeavoring to impede their progress.

There were no ambulances for our wounded men, and they had to be left in the houses of residents on the road.

The captured escort of sixteen hundred men was composed of the Thirty-sixth Iowa, the Forty-third Indiana and the Seventy-seventh Ohio regiments. Only forty-five succeeded in escaping.

Our infantry represents Gen. STEELE'S cavalry decidedly deficient in horses, our men being compelled to use unbroken mules in many instances, or to try and use them to serve in the place of cavalry horses.

Gen. PRICE'S forces are still lingering in the vicinity, stripping of the desolated country anew.

BANKS' RED RIVER CAMPAIGN.

The Recent Operations—A Deplorable Account—A Quarrel Between Gen. Banks and Gen. Smith—Destruction of Steamers.

Special Dispatch to the Rochester Democrat.

WASHINGTON, Sunday, May 8.

BANKS' FAILURE.

A bearer of dispatches from Admiral PORTER, whose character for intelligence and truthfulness is established here, who arrives to-day, gives an even more deplorable account of BANKS' disastrous campaign than any heretofore published, besides corroborating in all essential respects, the statements of private letters telegraphed you a week ago. He seems quite calculated to dispel whatever hopes the friends of Gen. BANKS may still entertain of a satisfactory explanation of his conduct.

On the first day a column of 20,000 men was expected on the march in such fashion as to be easily and abundantly dispersed by from 12,000 to 15,000.

On the second day Gen. A. J. SMITH whipped the rebels alone, driving them six miles. He was in hot pursuit, eager to reap all the fruits of victory, when an order came from Gen. BANKS directing him to retreat with the rest of his army. Gen. SMITH refused to obey. A second order to fall back he also refused to obey. Finally, Gen. BANKS in person brought a third order and insisted that SMITH should fall back before daylight. He begged permission to stay long enough to bury his dead and care for his wounded and sick. If only till an hour and two hours; but Gen. BANKS was inexorable, and Gen. SMITH was obliged with tears in his eyes to leave his men, who had fallen on the battle-field, to the tender mercies of the rebels.

He carried two of the twenty-three cannon which the rebels abandoned, but was not allowed time even to spike the remainder. While our forces were retreating in one direction, the rebels were retreating in the opposite direction.

Some hours after Gen. SMITH'S departure, the rebels sent a flag of truce to the battle-field, to enter an agreement to bury their dead, which rebels had had ample time for somebody to receive it. Three miles out from Alexandria, Gen. BANKS found Gen. McCLERNAND, with six thousand men, on their way to reinforce him. He ordered him to fall back to Alexandria at once, after destroying his grain and supplies. McCLERNAND refused twice to obey, but on receipt of the third order set fire to a part of his corn.

Gen. SMITH, with two thousand men, took the responsibility of marching to the spot, extinguishing the flames, and after remaining there all night, marched back again with the residue and all the other supplies.

At Gen. BANKS' request that these should be given upon him, Gen. SMITH replied that they were his by right of capture, and he should keep them for his own use. No General but BANKS was blessed for the campaign. SMITH is pronounced without fault in this matter.

At the time the messenger left, eight first-class gunboats were above the falls, unable to reach Alexandria on account of low water, and threatened by land forces. The Eastport had been blown up.

Admiral PORTER'S dispatches, while not going into so much detail concerning army operations, fully confirm the general conclusion as to the character of the Generalship of Gen. BANKS.

THE ANNIVERSARIES.

Anniversary Seamen's Friend Society.

The American Seamen's Friend Society held their thirty-sixth anniversary at Irving Hall last evening. The rain prevented a large attendance, but the friends of the society and the clergy were well represented. Wm. A. BOOTH, Esq., President, occupied the chair, and introduced Rev. Dr. COX, who opened the exercises by reading a passage of Scripture, followed by a prayer.

Addresses were delivered by Rev. Dr. LAWRIE, of Havre, France, Dr. MANNING, of Boston, Mr. ROBINSON, of Brooklyn, and others.

From the annual report of the operations of the society for the year past, read by Mr. LOCKE, one of the Secretaries, it appears that the rebellion has broken up most of the chaplaincies in Southern and foreign ports.

The libraries of the society at the Brooklyn Navy-yard and at Philadelphia have supplied over 100 United States vessels with 170 libraries. The number of boarders received at the Sailors' Home during the year past has been 2,314. During the July riots the Colored Sailors' Home was rifled of all its effects. It has received, however, 545 colored calls during the year. The report states that there are about 3,200 colored seamen belonging to vessels sailing out of this port. It is estimated that there are 6,000 in the U. S. Navy and 16,700 on the Western waters, making in all about 25,000 colored men in the naval and merchant service of the United States. The finances of the society are in a flourishing state. During the past year they have paid off the entire debt and are now free from that heavy burden. The receipts from all sources have been $69,216 65, an excess over the previous year of over $9,000.

Admiral FOOTE and Peter CARTER, Vice-Presidents of the society, have been removed by death since the last anniversary. Altogether the proceedings and the report were exceedingly gratifying to the friends of the seamen who assembled at Irving Hall last evening.

THE CASE OF HUTCHINGS, THE "LIGHTNING CALCULATOR."

There was published in these columns a few days since the remarkable cure of Hutchings, the "Lightning Calculator," so well known to the public during the many years he exhibited his wonderful arithmetical powers at Barnum's Museum, by the celebrated Oculist and Aurist, Dr. Von Eisenberg, of this City. Hutchings is represented to have been at the point of death, and but for the timely interference of the Doctor, would now be resting in his grave. This is a remarkable case, and worthy of the attention of persons similarly afflicted.

We think it is but just to Doctor Von Eisenberg to call public attention to this case. There are hundreds in the community suffering from catarrh, who, like the "Lightning Calculator," if not actually praying for death, are ready to accept of anything that promises to relieve them from their distresses. To such we would say, trifle not with inexperienced men, but consult, without unnecessary delay, Dr. Von Eisenberg, who, at least, has the honesty to assure his patients whether it is within his power to make them whole or not.

EARS TO THE DEAF.

Every man, and especially every woman, believes in his or her physician. There are philosophical minds which hold to an abstract faith in Allopathy, or Homeopathy, or Hydropathy, or some other form of scientific cure; but with the world at large the belief is not in the system, but in the doctor. Especially is this true as regards aurists and oculists. The patient who has recovered his sight or his hearing is sure that the blessing could have been restored to him by no other practitioner than that particular one by whom his eyes or ears were opened. Dr. Von Eisenberg is among our best-known aurists. He has not lost an ear as a brother practitioner has eyes, and in whose skill, therefore, we believe above all others. But we hear of him from those who esteem him not merely as a surgeon, but as a benefactor. A recent case has been related to us, for the truthfulness of which we can vouch, though we can name no names. The patient was a lady who had been deaf from infancy, as a consequence of some of the ailments to which children are liable. Latterly the disease had taken an acute form, and the patient was subject to intense suffering. The deafness was rapidly becoming complete, and the general health breaking down under the physical exhaustion attendant upon constant pain. Ordinary remedies and ordinary advice were useless, and Dr. Von Eisenberg was called in. We must not repeat his diagnosis, for that would be only a list of hard names to the general reader. But he detected at sight the seat of disease, first in one portion of the organism, then in another, and with manipulation so skillful as his insight was accurate, he removed the causes, and she who, from infancy, had heard with difficulty, and latterly hardly at all, was restored first to perfect hearing and then to perfect health. Dr. Von Eisenberg's advertisement reminds us of this case, which we thus briefly relate, though not at his solicitation. Let him that hath not ears, hear.

From the Christian Times.
SIGHT RESTORED.
CONCERNING EYES AND OCULISTS.

Of the five senses, that which we call seeing is the most important and most valued. In proportion as this sense fails us, we are reduced to helplessness. If entirely destitute of sight, how slow would be our progress in knowledge, and how limited our sphere of action and usefulness. Endowed with it, the universe becomes a new creation, clothed with beauty and diversified by that infinite variety which never fails to attract the mind and heart.

For several months past this has been a practical subject to us. An inflamed condition of the eyelids communicating itself to the pupil, rendered the discharge of daily duties not only painful, but dangerous. Attributing it to the effect of a cold, we endured it through the Spring, with the hope that with the return of warm weather it would entirely disappear. But in this we were doomed to disappointment. Summer returned, but not our wonted sight. What might have been the result either of further neglect or of incompetent treatment we cannot say.

Stating our case to a friend, he assured us that a similar one in his own family had recently been treated with entire success by Dr. Von Eisenberg, of this City. Satisfying ourselves by more particular inquiries that the doctor is an scientific, but a scientific medical and aurist, we concluded to seek the benefits of his treatment, which we have now reason to acknowledge is very great. Though but a few weeks under his care, the appearance of our eyes has totally changed. The pupil is now full and clear, and the lids are entirely free from inflammation. The doctor says that the optic nerve has been weakened and the retina assumed a chronic inflammatory state, affecting more or less all the other tissues and membranes, if neglected, to end in Amaurosis. Ophthalmia, in the sense we believe, which oculists apply to eyes affected as were ours. Having obtained the much desired relief, we take great pleasure in acknowledging our indebtedness to the talent of Dr. Von Eisenberg, and of calling to it the attention of others who may be suffering from a similar or even worse condition of their eyes. It is said that Providence provides an antidote for every bane. It is certain that the eye is, in these times, subject to severer trials than formerly. Let us be thankful, then, that as we increase the numerous causes which destroy the organ of vision, the progress of science keeps time with these tendencies, if not in advance of them.

OFFICE NO. 816 BROADWAY.

U. S. 10-40 BONDS.

These Bonds are issued under the Act of Congress of March 3, 1864, which provides that all Bonds issued under this act shall be EXEMPT FROM TAXATION by or under any State or municipal authority. Subscriptions to these Bonds are received in United States notes or notes of National Banks. They are TO BE REDEEMED IN COIN, at the pleasure of the Government, at any period not less than ten nor more than forty years from their date, and until their redemption FIVE PER CENT. INTEREST WILL BE PAID IN COIN, on Bonds of not over one hundred dollars annually, and on all other Bonds semi-annually. The interest is payable on the first days of March and September in each year.

Subscribers will receive either Registered or Coupon Bonds, as they may prefer. Registered Bonds are recorded on the books of the U. S. Treasurer, and can be transferred only on the owner's order. Coupon Bonds are payable to bearer, and are more convenient for commercial uses.

Subscribers to this loan will have the option of having their Bonds draw interest from March 1, by paying the accrued interest in coin—(or in United States notes or the notes of National Banks, adding fifty per cent for premium,) or receive them drawing interest from the date of subscription and deposit. As these Bonds are their value is increased from one to three per cent. per annum, according to the rate of tax levied in various parts of the country.

At the present rate of premium on gold they pay

OVER EIGHT PER CENT. INTEREST in currency, and are of equal convenience as a permanent or temporary investment.

It is believed that no securities offer so great inducements to lenders as the various descriptions of U. S. Bonds. In all other forms of indebtedness, the faith or ability of private parties or stock companies or separate communities only is pledged for payment, while for the debts of the United States the whole property of the country is holden to secure the payment of both principal and interest in coin.

These Bonds may be subscribed for in sums from $50 up to any magnitude, on the same terms, and are thus made equally available to the smallest lender and the largest capitalist. They can be converted into money at any moment, and the holder will have the benefit of the interest.

It may be useful to state in this connection that the total Funded Debt of the United States on which interest is payable in gold, on the 1st day of March, 1864, was $726,965,000. The interest on this debt for the coming fiscal year will be $45,827,125, while the customs revenue in gold for the current fiscal year, ending June 30, 1864, has been so far at the rate of over $120,000,000 per annum.

It will be seen that even the present gold revenue of the Government is largely in excess of the wants of the Treasury for the payment of gold interest, while the recent increase of the tariff will doubtless raise the annual receipts from customs on the same amount of importations, to $150,000,000 per annum.

Instructions to the National Banks acting as loan agents were not issued until March 28, but the amount of Bonds reported sold at the United States Treasury up to May 7 was $44,666,150.

Subscriptions will be received by the TREASURER OF THE UNITED STATES at Washington, and the ASSISTANT TREASURERS at New-York, Boston and Philadelphia, and by the

ANOTHER GREAT CURE BY SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP.
A MAN ALMOST RAISED FROM THE DEAD!
His certificate certified to by his physician.
His certificate certified to by his neighbors.
His certificate certified to by the officers and members of his lodge of I. O. of O. F.

I, John C. Green, of the village of Tacony, in the City and County of Philadelphia, do hereby certify to the following facts: That early last Fall I took a violent cold, which settled on my lungs, and I had chills alternately with fever, pain in my right side, breast and shoulder-blades, with a distressing cough, and no expectoration. I kept getting worse until I took my bed. My appetite was gone, my bowels very irregular, fever and night sweats attended with a distressing cough, which was very tight; my flesh had nearly all gone, and I was so weak that I could scarcely raise my head from the pillow, and was truly an object of pity to behold. My friends had been sent for to see me die, and my sick bed was surrounded by kind and sympathizing neighbors who had come to witness my departure from this world.

When all rays of hope fled of my recovery, Dr. Conrad proposed to try SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP, with a view of loosening my cough, and relieving me of the tough phlegm, and as a means of affording temporary relief, remarking at the same time, "that I was too far gone for the syrup to be of any permanent benefit." My wife anxious for the relief of my intense sufferings, procured some of the pulmonic syrup, I taxed it without no relief, and continued using it. I could feel its healing influence upon my lungs.

Dr. Schenck was sent for. He came and examined my lungs with his respirometer. He found one lung nearly gone, but the other was sound. He said he could generally cure those cases where one lung was wasted; I do honestly think that if I had not commenced using Dr. Schenck's Medicines I could not have lived another week. Sometimes my breath appeared almost gone. I continued to improve under its use, and my friends were more gratified to witness my unexpected improvement; many of my neighbors came to look at me as one raised from the dead.

My cough now became loose, and I felt something break where I had the pain in my breast, and I discharged large quantities of yellow matter. I have for weeks discharged and raised a pint-box full of matter every day, with hard lumps like grains of something. My bowels now became regular and natural, and my appetite was so far improved that I could scarcely restrain from eating too much. My strength improved, and I regained my strength.

I feel now as well as I ever did in my life, and can do as much work. I cannot run or go up steps as fast as I used to, for one lung is partially gone and continued, but it seems to me, like a man that has lost an eye, the other is the stronger. I feel now as though, when I met a person with a bad cough, or look as though they had consumption, that I must go to them, and persuade them to go at once to Dr. Schenck and get examined, for perhaps they were like me, and had one good lung, and can be cured. I am this day a living testimony of the great efficacy of Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup. For fear some that read this may think as I did, that all certificates were made up, to deceive the poor afflicted, I subjoin the certificate of my physician, and also a number of well-known inhabitants of Tacony, who saw me at different times during my disease, and never expected to see me recover. I also append the certificate of the officers of Mystic Lodge, No. 276, I. O. of O. F., who finally visited over me, and fully believed they would consign my remains to the tomb; but, thanks to Dr. Schenck for his invaluable Pulmonic Syrup, my life has been spared, and I am permitted to make the foregoing statement for the benefit of suffering mankind.

I reside at Tacony, and am well known by most of the people there, and will be gratified to have any person call upon me and learn more particulars of the great virtues of this medicine. JOHN C. GREEN.

The subscribers, members of the Mystic Lodge, No. 276, I. O. of O. F., of Holmesburgh, Pa., do hereby certify that we know John C. Green, who is a member in good standing in Lodge No. 276, I. O. of O. F., was dangerously ill, with a few pulmonary consumption, last winter, so that they gave him up to die; that he is now fully restored to perfect health, and they believe his recovery was produced by Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup.

We believe this certificate is correct in every particular.

The undersigned, residents of Tacony, eight miles above Philadelphia, being well acquainted with John C. Green, and the circumstances attending his case, feel impelled from a deep sense of impartial duty to make universally known to the public his entire recovery from the very last stages of Pulmonary Consumption. So entirely helpless was his condition—having been but a brief period since, quite long, men assisted him to and from his place of business, in the opinion of his physician and friends, who watched by his bedside, all hopes of even a temporary recovery and restoration to his present robust health. Thus the careful use of your invaluable specific, the Pulmonic Syrup, makes it, in our belief, under the blessing of God, the most potent, if not, in any thing, condition, one of the most startling results that the whole annals of medical skill, or science can produce. It deserves to be imperishably recorded to your credit, and secures to you, the greatest discoverer of an infallible cure for this hitherto remediless disease, a lasting monument and a world-wide reputation in the healing art, that no time may either diminish or destroy. Having witnessed Mr. Green's distressing struggle and suffering from a continual cough, superadded to the other symptoms mentioned upon or attending the last stages of a pulmonary disease; and, moreover, it being so generally believed by his numerous friends that his recovery was perfectly impossible, we feel that we should be recreant to his memory, if we should fail to secure to him, and his family, the benefit of the testimony of his restoration to health, we feel it thus our duty to give our unqualified testimony of Mr. Green's perfect recovery, by means of the exclusive use of your wonderful Syrup; and we should neglect a duty, if we would be made the humble instruments of relief and cure to others who may be so unfortunate as to be similarly afflicted.

MEDICAL.

DEBILITY, DISEASES CURED IN THE SHORTEST possible time by DR. WARD, 25 Ann-st., N.-Y. Private Rooms, Ann-st. Dr. WARD, from the hospitals of London, Paris and Edinburgh, is the discoverer of the only certain and reliable remedies for diseases of a private nature. In 20 years' practice he has cured more cases of Secret Diseases without Mercury Treatment than all others combined. I can and will cure you in less time and for less expense than any other man or will; and those who have been robbed of their money and health, call; it will take but three days; any thing that is genuine, I can cure. If you have been to many others and they failed to cure you, call at once. By his special remedies, discovered in Paris, and known only to medical science, he is enabled to guarantee a speedy and permanent cure. Recent cases of Gonorrhœa or Syphilis cured in a few days, without change of diet or hindrance from business. Secondary Syphilis—the last vestige of medical skill—the most dreadful of Mercury. Impotency, consequent upon self-abuse, cured in a short time. Sufferers from Impotency, or loss of sexual power, restored to full vigor in a few weeks, permanently, and speedily cured by a new treatment. Persons at a distance failing to receive prompt attention should write. Cases not given up by others undertaken and cured. Medicines sent everywhere. Consultation free. Cures effected by writing a full diagnosis of their case, addressed to Dr. WARD, No. 61 Franklin-st. Call, send, or write.

$1,000 FORFEITED AND NO CHARGE UNLESS CURED.—Dr. Hunter's Red Drop, pure vegetable compound, cures venereal diseases, when regular treatment and all other remedies fail; cures without dieting or restriction in the habits of the patient; cures without the debilitating effects of all other remedies; cures in new cases in less than six hours; cures without the dreadful consequent effects of mercury; but you know the peculiarly valuable property of annihilating the rank and poisonous taint that the blood is sure to absorb unless some effectual remedy is used. This is what has never been done before, and cannot be done by any other medicine. Its value in this respect has become so well known that scientific men, in every department of medical knowledge, begin to appreciate it; scarcely a week passes that he is not consulted by druggists, chemists and physicians in regard to some painful patient who has exhausted the whole field of the faculty, and still the disease will appear. It is 21 a vial, and must be obtained genuine anywhere but at the old office, No. 2 Division-st., New-York City, since 1834. Eight vials, warranted to cure a virulent gonorrhœa, sent to any one who will remove the Monitor of Health by return mail.

GEN. BUTLER'S COLUMN.

some of the sailors, and other were found connected for wire under suspicion, which will be destroyed. The body of the rebel whom the gallant naval officer shot was examined, and letters found upon it proving him to be engaged in the torpedo business. The name of the wretch was Hunter.

There was heavy firing a couple of hours since, about fifty o'clock P. M., on our extreme left. I have ascertained that it was by HICKMAN's Division, who had been sent to take possession of the railroad where the branch of the Richmond, Petersburgh and Weldon Road to City Point joins the main line. They met but little resistance, and the road is now held by us.

A force from Gen. GRAHAM's mosquito fleet of wooden gunboats took possession this morning of a place called Fort Walthall, on the Appomattox, about eight miles from Petersburgh. Three miles up the river is a rebel earthwork, mounting eight guns, we are told, which may be attacked to-morrow.

A negro who left Petersburgh at 11 this morning has come into our lines. He says that the place is defended by the militia entirely. Yesterday when the report reached there that the Yankees were landing at Wilcox's Wharf—one Fort Powhatan, the alarm bells were rung and the home guards assembled. A body of them was forthwith organized, and this morning they started out to beat back the invaders at those places down the river. Should this story of the negro be true, there is a fair probability of "bagging" this adventurous militiamen, now that HICKMAN has seized the railroad over which they were transported from Petersburgh in the direction of City Point.

I must stop writing. The dispatches must leave now or lose the mail. H. J. W.

The Blowing Up of the Gunboat Commodore Jones.

WASHINGTON, Monday, May 9.

It is ascertained from private sources that every man on board the gunboat Commodore Jones was either killed or wounded with one exception. The man who exploded the torpedo was himself killed by persons on another vessel who had been watching his movements.

A detachment of sharpshooters went ashore subsequently found on his person instructions from the rebel Secretary of the Navy regarding the torpedoes and their various locations. Several other men were found concealed in rifle-pits ready to perform similar work. They were promptly placed beyond the power of mischief.

BALTIMORE, Monday, May 9.

The following has been received from Fortress Monroe, dated May 6, 1864:

"The report that Petersburgh was taken in the afternoon of the 5th inst. was incorrect.

The Commodore Jones, a small navy gunboat, was destroyed by a rebel torpedo on the afternoon of the 6th inst. Most of the crew saved themselves by swimming ashore. This took place within twelve miles of Richmond.

Yesterday, the 7th inst., Gens. MCKENZIE's and BUCHE's Brigades advanced on the railroad leading from Petersburgh to Richmond, and after quite a severe skirmish with the enemy, they succeeded in destroying about three miles of the track and burning two important railroad bridges.

On the 6th inst., when our troops took possession of City Point, it was so complete a surprise that the enemy's signal corps, consisting of twenty-seven men, were all captured.

THE WOUNDED.

The Wounded not yet Received—Aid from Massachusetts and New-York.

WASHINGTON, Monday, May 9.

Our wounded in the recent battles will not probably reach Washington until to-night, not yet having reached Rappahannock Station.

BOSTON, Monday, May 9.

In response to a call from the Surgeon-General at Washington, ten surgeons left this city last night to aid our wounded.

ALBANY, Monday, May 9, 1864.

Surgeon-General CHRISTMANCY was telegraphed from Washington to send on a number of Volunteer Surgeons to render their services in the present emergency. He at once responded to the request, and the following Surgeons left this morning for the army:

Dr. S. Oakley Vanderpoel, Albany.
Dr. Gurdon Buck, New-York.
Dr. Stephen Smith, New-York.
Dr. Frank H. Hamilton, New-York.
Dr. Thomas M. Markoe, New-York.
Dr. William Detmold, New-York.
Dr. William F. Seymour, Troy.
Dr. Le Roy McLean, Troy.
Dr. Charles E. Simons, Troy.
Dr. S. G. Wolcott, Utica.
Dr. Edward H. Parker, Poughkeepsie.

A number of surgeons have likewise left from Brooklyn, but their names have not yet been received at the office of the Surgeon-General, and a large number from different parts of the State have likewise tendered their services.

NEWS FROM WASHINGTON.

SPECIAL DISPATCH TO NEW-YORK TIMES

WASHINGTON, Monday, May 9.

THE DEPARTMENT OF THE SOUTH.

Maj.-Gen. Foster has been ordered to the command of the Department of the South.

A SERENADE TO THE PRESIDENT.

In a speech made by the President, to-night, in answer to a serenade, among other things he said—"In the absence of all details, I can say, so far as I know what events have occurred, that Gen. GRANT has not been jostled as John from the object he set out to accomplish, and to-night he is pursuing unfeignedly the line which he designed to follow at starting."

THE TREASURY MATTERS.

All recent efforts to cast odium upon the Administration through absurd reports in regard to improprieties in the Treasury Department, have so far proved abortive. The special Congressional Committee of Investigation have been afforded all facilities for thorough search into affairs of the Bank-note Printing Bureau they desired. They will report that there is no over-issue of fractional currency, and that the method of printing bank notes by means of hydraulic pressure has proved a signal success, and a great saving to the Government over old methods. Not only will there be no imputations against Mr. CLARKE, but the committee, in common justice, will be constrained to sincerely him.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Times

WASHINGTON, Monday, May 9—Midnight.

Lieut. JACKSON, First Michigan Cavalry, of Gen. GRANT's Staff, arrived here this afternoon, with dispatches for the Secretary of War. He left headquarters Sunday, with a small escort, and reached Rappahannock Station the same night. The news he brings confirms the previous reports of the final success of our arms. On Thursday the enemy attempted their old game of massing their forces to break our lines, when a desperate conflict ensued, in which the Second Corps took a conspicuous part. In this day's fighting the enemy captured, it is reported, nearly all of two brigades, including their commanders, Gens. SEYMOUR and SHALER. Lee's army is falling back. Transports for the wounded are now passing down the Potomac, destined for Aquia Creek.

A bearer of dispatches from Major-Gen. HOWARD to the President, arrived here this afternoon, and he subsequently made a statement in presence of the Joint Committee on the Conduct of the War and Senate Military Committee. He states that on Saturday last, BEAUREGARD, with 7,000 men, made a surprise attack upon Gen. BUTLER about ten miles from Richmond. So sudden and unexpected was the encounter that Gen. BUTLER himself narrowly escaped capture. Indeed his own orderly was captured within sixty yards of him. The command being in readiness, it quickly passed from the defensive to the offensive position and the enemy were most signally defeated. The bearer of dispatches gives it as his opinion that Gen. BUTLER, having already cut off BEAUREGARD, will be in Richmond at an early day, and before either LEE or GRANT can reach there.

Gov. CURTIN, accompanied by Surgeon-Gen. KNOX and Col. BIDDLE REARDON, of his staff, arrived here to-night, to look after the Pennsylvania wounded in the recent battle. At a meeting of the Pennsylvania Relief Association to-night, Hon. J. N. MORRISSON, of Pittsburgh, pledged his constituents good for $1,000, to a fund for care and relief of wounded Pennsylvania soldiers. Other Congressmen were invited to follow Mr. MORRISSON's example.

Although the details of Thursday's and Friday's fighting are not such as to warrant the belief that our victory is decisive, it is known that feelings in official circles are buoyant, and that the scraps of information received concerning operations since 5 o'clock Saturday P. M., when the last Press correspondents left the field, do much to brighten the aspect. Lee is believed, beyond a doubt, to be retreating, and all the indications betoken a vigorous pursuit.

Our cavalry had a successful fight at Stannardsville.

The wounded are coming to Fredericksburgh, whence most of them will probably be brought up on boats.

The President is understood to have said to-night, in praising the obstinacy with which GRANT had held his ground, that there had been no Commander of the Army of the Potomac before him who would not have recrossed the Rapidan after such a reception as the rebels gave him on Thursday and Friday.

We are not believed to have any advantage in prisoners, and it is not claimed that up to Saturday night there was much, if any, difference in our favor in killed and wounded.

A Speech from the President—Gen. Grant not Jostled from His Plans—Arrival of Wounded from Fredericksburgh—They are Fired upon by Bushwhackers and Citizens.

WASHINGTON, Monday, March 9.

A large number of persons, on short notice, assembled in front of the Executive mansion to-night, and, with the band of the Twenty-seventh Ohio Volunteers, now on their way to the field, complimented the President with a serenade.

The President appeared on the portico and made a brief speech, in which he said the honor extended was not so much, perhaps, to him, as to Gen. GRANT and the gallant officers and soldiers under his command. He was exceedingly gratified to know that Gen. GRANT had not been jostled from his plans, but was now on the line of movement according to the original design. While, however, we might rejoice at what had already been accomplished, much more remained to be done.

The proceedings, which were of short continuance, terminated with repeated cheers for the President, Gen. GRANT, and the army.

On Friday a number of slightly wounded men, who had been ordered to the rear, made their way to Fredericksburgh under an escort of fourteen armed men. On entering the town they were fired upon by the citizens with shot-guns, pistols and such other arms as were obtainable. They, however, succeeded in passing out, and proceeded to Aquia Creek, where they hastily constructed rafts, and moved some distance out into the stream. They finally hailed a gunboat, which took them on board and brought them to Washington to-night. They are now quartered at the Armory Hospital. The party number 250.

Fredericksburgh is now occupied by such of our forces as to insure respect on the part of the inhabitants.

This account is given by one of the wounded men.

On Saturday, between 400 and 500 of the slightly wounded, that is, those who could walk, started in one body to reach our lines. After holding a consultation they decided to pass through Fredericksburgh and from thence to Aquia Creek, that route affording the best chance for escape. Arriving at Fredericksburgh their formidable appearance, a portion of the men still carrying their muskets, prevented any serious offensive operations on the part of the rebels; but when attempting to cross the river, they were fired upon by a party of bushwhackers. These they speedily dispersed, but some 150 of the most seriously wounded turned back, and it is supposed rejoined the army. The remaining 250 succeeded in reaching Aquia Creek in safety, where, during the day they were taken off and brought to this City by the Government dispatch boat.

Six of the party who ventured upon an island in Aquia Creek were captured by a roving party of bushwhackers.

Three reporters who were captured by STUART's men, succeeded in effecting their escape and joined the above party at Aquia Creek. Several reporters who attempted to reach our lines are still missing.

Among the killed are the following: Lieut.-Col. Burt, Third Maine; Maj. Gray, Fourth Maine; T. J. Whitlemore, do.; M. Sweeny, Seventeenth Maine; T. Toole, do.; T. M. McIntyre do.; Sergt. Baker, do., Wm. Sibley, John Paterson, Sergt. Fanhour, Lieut. Doe. The Seventeenth Maine entered the fight with 430 men, and lost about 200. Jacob Bogart, Second New-Jersey; Capt. Bilin do.; Wm. Hagerson, Sixty-second Pennsylvania; Capt. Beck, do., missing. S. Clark and Lynch, of the Sixty-seventh New-York, were killed. Thomas Martin, Forty-fourth New-York, wounded; Jos. Sandman, do. do.; Geo. D. Prinney, Seventh Wisconsin, do.; G. W. Donnelson, do. do.; Geo. Mitchel, First Indiana, do.; Robert Wells, 76th New-York, do.; Joseph Bowen, 61st Pennsylvania, do.; H. McDowell, 4th New-Jersey, do.

Among those killed in the battles of Thursday and Friday are: Col. LOWRIER, Fourth Michigan Regiment; Capt. S. F. JOHNSON, Forty-fourth New-York; Lieut.-Col. MERCER, One Hundred and Forty-seventh Pennsylvania; Lieut. ASHLEY, Tenth Massachusetts.

The following are wounded: Col. SPAULDING and Lieut. GRAVE, Tenth Massachusetts; Lieuts. MEGARS and BRECKENRAM, and Capt. FOX, of the Forty-fourth New-York Volunteers.

ALEXANDRIA, Va., Monday, May 9—5 P. M.

The six or seven trains that left here on Sunday morning for Rappahannock Station to bring on the wounded, have just returned to this station without accomplishing their errand of mercy. Not a wounded man has been brought there as yet. It appears that the ambulance train started forward, but was stopped by a rebel cavalry force at the Rapidan while the Engineer Corps were endeavoring to lay a pontoon bridge. The railroad to the Rappahannock has not been injured at all. We have still small detachments guarding the bridges to that point.

HIGHLY IMPORTANT.

Occupation of Dalton by Gen. Thomas.

LOUISVILLE, Monday, May 9.

An officer from the front reports that Gen. THOMAS occupied Dalton yesterday.

GEN. AVERILL'S EXPEDITION.

Arrival of Gen. Crook's Command at Princeton.

Twenty-five Hundred Rebels Retreat Leaving their Camp in Our Possession.

CINCINNATI, Monday, May 9.

The Gazette has a special dispatch from West Virginia, announcing the arrival of Gen. CROOK's command at Princeton. This is a portion of Gen. AVERILL's command, sent out to cut the Virginia and East Tennessee Railroad. The enemy, 2,500 strong, retreated, leaving their camp in our possession.

FROM NORTH CAROLINA.

The Rebel Ram in Possession of Albemarle Sound.

By the arrival of the steamer Louisa Moore at Fortress Monroe, from North Carolina, we learn that the rebel ram Albemarle, which captured Plymouth, is now in full possession of Albemarle Sound. Friday last she was seen from Roanoke Island. There is no know knowing what movement she may make to attempt to take Roanoke Island and its black population, Newbern and other important points.

It is reported that an iron-clad from Fortress Monroe has arrived at Hatteras, and was on her way to meet the rebel ram. If this report is true we shall be able to hold our possessions in North Carolina.

Grave apprehensions existed among the inhabitants and business men, many of whom were leaving for places of safety.

Commodore MELANCTON SMITH had arrived at Newbern, and taken command of the naval forces in North Carolina. Active and desperate work in the waters of that State was hourly expected.

LATER AND IMPORTANT.

Hubbel's Golden Bitters.

From the New-York Evening Express.

Many of the tonic preparations which are now giving universal satisfaction to the people were donated (to the fair) in large quantities; prominent in the list was a generous invoice of Golden Bitters, from the manufacturers, Geazes C. Hubbel & Co., of Hudson, N. Y., and whose warehouse is in the American Express Building, No. 55 Hudson-street, in this City. Although only recently introduced, the intrinsic value of this preparation has already produced a large demand, which is constantly increasing, and already promises fame and fortune to its energetic producers. That they not only understand the way to make a superior tonic drink; but that they have abundant business ability to let the public become fully aware of the fact has been amply demonstrated, in the seven or eight months just passed. During that period they have not only pursued a most liberal system of newspaper advertising; but every vacant fence-corner, forty-landing, even the rocks on the highway, have been embellished with large placards, "G—H—B—R." "Nedlog Stettih," "Hubbel's Golden Bitters," and hundreds of others, which have become to New-Yorkers as familiar as household words. It is claimed that these Golden Bitters have many superior medicinal qualities, independent of the one for which they are mostly employed for—an appetizer power. For Dyspepsia, Heartburn, General Debility, and Prostration, as well as for females of quiet habits, these bitters are said to be of superior value. In order to illustrate how readily a good thing can be remuneratively brought out in these days of progress, it is only necessary to state the facts, that the fabrication of the Golden Bitters, already incurs the employment of over one hundred hands, and the capacity of the manufactory is equal to the production of ten thousand bottles per day; yet it is said that so great is the demand that these facilities will soon have to be largely increased. As a beverage, the Golden Bitters are extremely palatable, and those desiring a mild stimulant will undoubtedly find this an agreeable and beneficial one. While dealers only are supplied by the manufacturer, this bitters can be procured of Druggists, Grocers, at Hotels, Restaurants, etc., throughout the country, and even in the public drinking houses it is becoming a fashionable drink.

The style is original, and has this advantage over every other, that it seems to become every wearer; and this is a great feat to accomplish, and proves the genius of the designer.

CATARRH

NOISES IN THE HEAD,

DISEASES OF THE

EYE, EAR & THROAT,

DEAFNESS CURED,

BY

Dr. Von Eisenberg.

DEAFNESS AND CATARRH.

No. 22 FOURTH-ST., New-York, Oct. 1, 1863.

Dr. Von Eisenberg:

DEAR SIR: Without recapitulating the numerous benefits I have received through your wonderful cure of the deafness I have labored under many years, the blessings I enjoy will convince the most skeptical.

I have tried many aurists, in Europe and America, without success. I was still deaf as a post.

Three years ago I entered your office, underwent one operation, hoping, yet doubting, I should receive any to me, but was agreeably disappointed in finding the genius of your profession.

The inside skill you possess cured my deafness in one almost painless operation.

The joy I experienced was indescribable; 'twas a new life to me.

My hearing is perfect to this day.

I strongly advise all who are suffering under a difficulty of hearing, or total deafness, to consult you immediately, as I also personally recommend all who apply to me. The numerous calls remain on my time and patience, yet, remembering my own long, weary affliction causes me to pity them.

This is not written to advertise your well-known, unrivaled reputation—that would be puerile; but as a measure of precaution, to induce all to call on you at once, without trembling me; yet I do not refuse to see any one who comes to me. This is the only way I can show my gratitude.

I also call the attention of those who are suffering from Catarrh, which disease I have labored under one year or more.

I experienced difficulty in breathing, hoarseness, heaviness over the eyes, a sense of tightness on the brain, and copious expectorations of a hard and viscid nature. Accompanying this is a "polypus," quite filling the right nostril. On the 26th ult. you operated on both, killing the polypus, which is gradually passing away, and giving me great relief from the Catarrh. One more operation will effectually cure.

This testimonial brings with it my unalloyed and grateful thanks, with but a poor delineation of your wondrous skill as an Aurist.

I am, Sir, yours very gratefully,

EDWARD TEMPLE HARRISON.
